Deborah Chapin '76—Since graduating from MWC Deborah has been developing her art into a fulltime career. She is now considered one of the outstanding marine/landscape artists in the mid-Atlantic region. Although she paints a variety of subjects in a variety of media, her chief focus is still marine subjects in oil. Since she started painting fulltime in February 1980, she has been included in many exhibitions, including the 1980 Biennial Exhibition at the Baltimore Museum of Fine Art, the Third Annual Washington Regional Exhibition at the Galerie Triangle, and most recently the 2nd Annual National Landscape Competition at Tolley Gallery in Washington, D.C. Her work has achieved further recognition through numerous awards and a biographical sketch in Who's Who of American Women. Her work is also included in many private and corporate collections. She is an active member of the American Society Of Marine Artists and other regional art organizations. The painting shown here is a depiction of a Chesapeake Bay Tong Rig beached in the snow to protect it from the ice. The title of the work is "Alone On Hooper's Island". For this particular painting Deborah was awarded the "Best Media Depicting Life On the Eastern Shore" in the professional category at the Easton Juried Show.

There are 10 students at MWC this fall who are standing a bit taller, smiling a bit wider and, in general, are feeling a bit prouder of themselves and their college. The 10—named last spring to All American status in three different sports—have reached what Athletic Director Ed Hegmann calls "the zenith" in their athletic careers. They also represent a milestone for MWC, since they are our first athletes to be so honored. A story about the All Americans begins on page 2.

Not to be outdone by these athletes' individual achievements, the women's tennis team advanced through postseason competition to the number one spot nationally in the AIAW. Their trophy, now on display in Goolrick Hall, appears on our front cover. Sports Information Director Terry Bonner recounts their feat in an article on page 4.

With business administration becoming a popular, new major at MWC, we decided to take a look at two alumni who have made a go of running their own small businesses, and in an article by Mike Boyd, we discover the varied lifestyle of a resident assistant.

In a significant step this summer, the MWC Board of Visitors appointed a non-voting student member to join in its deliberations. In an interview by Editorial Assistant Janice Conway with the appointee, SA President Anne Thompson, and with Dan Steen, who led the push for approval of the concept in the last session of the General Assembly, we find out what the students' reactions are to this new responsibility.

Before closing, I ask that you take time to review the Annual Fund Report of Gifts, inserted in the center of this issue, and look forward with us to the winter issue, which will be a special 75th anniversary look at MWC.

ALL AM

By Terry Bonner

All American status is "the zenith for an amateur athlete," Mary Washington College Athletic Director Edward H. Hegmann has said. "It is a 4.0 grade point average, the apex, a source of lifelong pride. Like a college diploma, it is something no one can ever take away from you. To be an All American," Hegmann continued with the emotion of an aspiring athlete, "is to be able to say that you were the best in the entire nation."

Prior to the 1981-82 sports year, no MWC athlete had reached that pinnacle of athletic performance. During the past season, however, 10 Mary Washington College athletes remedied that lack and attained Hegmann's "zenith." Ten athletes from three sports were selected to that elite class with, Hegmann related, "an outstanding level of performance."

Senior field hockey defender Deb Reid was chosen through a coaches' poll for the honorary All American team. Four track competitors and five tennis players earned the status by reaching a predetermined position through head-to-head competition.

The track foursome reached fifth place in the AIAW Nation Division III meet's two-mile relay. After a qualifying time of 9:26, the squad placed fifth with a 9:37 time in the finals, raced in a downpour. Although the time was a slower one, the Mary Washington College team bettered two teams which had outdistanced them in a qualifying heat. The top six relay teams were designated as All Americans.

The tennis players won their national championship as a team but merited All American selection with fine individual play. All five netters were national champions in either singles or doubles, and three of them took the honor in both singles and doubles.

The All Americans

Kathy Devine—One of only two freshmen at MWC to win the award, Devine became an All American in both singles and doubles at the AIAW Division III tennis championships. Devine won the regional flight-three singles title, then finished second in her flight nationally. In doubles, she and partner Jaime Rund captured Virginia, Region II, and national flight-three crowns.

Mary Glowacki—Another tennis star, Glowacki earned All American mention as both the flight-two singles and flight-two doubles national champion in her first season of intercollegiate tennis. After Virginia and Region II singles and doubles championships, the junior used her "sound physical skills and classic tennis strokes," according to her coach Ed Hegmann, in winning two more titles on the highest collegiate level.

Terry Hudachek—Another junior, Hudachek won All Virginia mention in track and cross country in her sophomore and junior seasons before anchoring MWC's All American two-mile relay team. As the team finished fifth nationally, Hudachek boosted her team from seventh to fifth with her "super" last leg, according to track coach Rick Wagenaar.

Kathy McCaughey—In her first track season, sophomore Kathy McCaughey ran a strong second leg of the two-mile relay team. McCaughey holds MWC's 100- and 800-meter records.

Marlene Moreno—A freshman, Moreno led off Mary Washington's two-mile relay team, placing the team fourth after the initial leg. In addition to the All American award, Moreno was an All Virginia performer in both track and cross country and cross country All Regional star in her first collegiate season.

Patsy O'Connell—The tennis team captain, O'Connell won both the flight-five singles and flight-two doubles national titles to rate All American status. The junior is MWC's only tennis player to attend national level tournaments in each of her three seasons. She lost only four games in taking the flight-singles championship.

Deb Reid—Reid, the only senior among MWC's corps of All Americans, is a four-year Blue Tide field hockey starter. Selected in a nationwide coaches' poll, "she earned the certificate with high level performances," coach Meg Kintzing said, "as the leader of our defense. Deb is a dependable, consistent player with outstanding skills."

Jaime Rund—Rund followed her regional championship as a freshman with Virginia, Region II, and national singles and doubles titles as a sophomore to become an All American athlete. After a 38-3 season singles record, Rund lost only one set in her four-match march to the national singles crown.

Chris Scott—Sophomore Chris Scott ran the third leg for her All American two-mile relay team. A cross country runner with national experience, Scott ran extremely well in both qualifying and final heats.

Deeanne Wardman—"Deeanne was awesome," Hegmann grinned, as she earned a national flight-four tennis title. The sophomore became an All American when she blitzed her finals opponent, the flight's number one seed, by a 6-0, 6-0 score to add the national award to her state and regional first place trophies. In winning the three titles, Wardman lost only one set and, in the three finals, a combined total of only five games.

The Mary Washington College women's tennis team won the Blue Tide's first national team championship May 29. In winning the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) Division III trophy, pictured on MWC Today's cover, the six-member team won six of the nine flights—four of six singles and two of three doubles flights—and placed five women on the AIAW All American team.

Mary Washington's national first-place finish is a further positive step in the athletic program's rapid development. Athletic Director Edward H. Hegmann explained, "The goals and aspirations of all of our 18 teams are national competition." Citing national-level play as "an educational experience that is difficult to put a value on as an asset to the growth of a student," Hegmann continued, "We are directing all our programs toward going as far as we can go on the tournament schedule. The national tennis title gives credence to the fact that we can be successful on the highest level."

The national championship capped an amazing season for the tennis squad. Mary Washington compiled a 21-5 dual match record, dominated the competition in winning its first Virginia and Region II crowns, and placed forth in the NCAA national team tournament just prior to the AIAW tourney.

That fourth place finish at Jackson, Mississippi, and the NCAA event may have been the decisive factor in MWC's march to the AIAW title at the University of Wisconsin—Eau Claire a week later. "Our strength all year was our team effort," Hegmann explained, speaking as the MWC tennis coach. "In Mississippi, that team effort was missing. We were not coordinated, not clicking. The chemistry was off. Because it became obvious that it was missing," the sixth-year coach explained, "the team had an added motivation to regain the style necessary to win in a national tournament."

In the 20-team AIAW playoff, the aggressive style typical of the Tide netters resurfaced with emphasis. " 'Go for it' has become a corny phrase," Hegmann said, "but that's what we did in Wisconsin. After playing cautiously at the NCAAs, we played with determination and aggressiveness. We went for it and we did it." As an indication of Mary Washington's domination of the tournament, MWC players did not lose a set in the six championship matches.

Three women won double national championships. Playing and winning in both number two singles and doubles, junior Mary Glowacki was twice recognized as an All American. Glowacki, playing in her first season of intercollegiate competition since transfering to MWC, lost only one game in taking her flight's singles title.

Patsy O'Connell, another junior and the team's captain, put her three years of national tournament experience to use as she took the flight-five singles crown and teamed with Glowacki for the flight-two doubles title.

Sophomore Jaime Rund put together a 38-3 singles record over the course of the year and capped her season with national championships in both flight-six singles and flight-three doubles.

That threesome plus flight-four singles champ, Deeanne Wardman, and Rund's doubles partner, Kathy Devine, all merited All American certificates. Kathy Healey, a regional winner at flight-one singles, rounded out the championship squad.

Success in Business

By Linda Evans

Success in business means more than just identifying a need. Good business judgment, sufficient capital and customer relations all play vital roles in a business's success. In the following articles, two MWC graduates tell how they combined these elements to build thriving small businesses. And finally, in a dialog with MWC's business department chairman, the pitfalls of opening and running a small business are examined.

Doris Ann Sullivan

Elizabeth Barton Dubenitz

Doris Ann Sullivan—"It's as if we've captured some magic."

Liz Dubenitz—"The customer is buying your good faith, trusting you to be honest."

Shop Sells More Than Clothes—It's an Image Builder

The customer wanted to buy her entire spring wardrobe. Knowing she preferred to shop in private, store owner Doris Ann Sullivan picked out a variety of dresses, suits and casual wear, took them upstairs to "The Private Quarters," and guided the woman as she chose her outfits in the comfort of the tastefully decorated apartment that has lent a kind of magic to this exclusive, Fredericksburg shop.

"Customers think it's a very comfortable atmosphere. In the bedroom, it's almost like being in their own homes. If her husband or a friend is with her, he or she can sit in the living room—having tea or a drink—and she can come out and show off the clothes. It's a very relaxed atmosphere, and some people think there's some prestige to it," Mrs. Sullivan said, describing her innovative approach to merchandising.

That something extra—the attention to detail, image and the needs of customers—has been the key to success for the 1966 Mary Washington College graduate. From the beginning three years ago, when she left her job as a school administrator, "I wanted everything to be the best," she said. "I've been willing to go a step beyond what most people would do."

The result has been a dramatic rise in sales—inventory has grown from $30,000 to $300,000 a year in the shop devoted to very traditional, name-brand clothes from manufacturers such as E. S. Dean, Schrader Sport, Gordon of Philadelphia, Sero and others.

Named Ann Vaughan of Fredericksburg (after Mrs. Sullivan's daughter), the store is located in two renovated 19th century townhouses on the city's historic 700 block of Caroline Street, a few doors from the city's visitor center. From the banner-like sign above the door to the pineapple logo found throughout, Ann Vaughan is a different kind of shopping experience.

An unexpected outgrowth of her success has been the admiration and awe she has received, especially from other women. "People come up to me and say, 'Where did you get the nerve to do this? What made you think you could do it? How did you build this image?' "

So many people have asked for her secrets of success and so many others just seem to need reassurances from someone who has become successful that Mrs. Sullivan has moved into another dimension of the business world—she now serves as a consultant on success.

"I feel I've gotten what I want out of life, and I feel my experience could help other people, so I began Kinsey Stuart Associates," she said of her new venture. Hoping to become equally successful on the lecture circuit, she has developed a variety of lecture topics ranging from "Taking Charge of Your Life" to "Packaging Yourself as a Winner." For spouse programs at major conventions, she may deal with "Helping Your Husband Reach the Executive Suite" or "What to do With the Rest of Your Life." Executive women or women on the way up the corporate ladder may be interested in her ideas on "Finding Your Personal Success Style" or "Developing Your Undeveloped Potential."

"All these ideas developed from the experiences I've had in the shop. It's as if I've captured some magic. People treat me differently, and I'm taken back by that because I never felt it took that much nerve; it was just something I wanted to do, and I did it."

A former school teacher and school administrator for Fredericksburg City Schools, Mrs. Sullivan's accomplishments have come later in life; in fact, she left MWC after her first child was born in 1957 and didn't return for eight years—after her two children were in school.

"I really went back because I wanted to teach school. That was my only ambition. I loved children, and thought that was what I wanted to do the rest of my life.

Leaving an important, well-paying job with the public schools to go into business was a risk, but "I did it because I knew I would be working for a while, and I thought I would love to know what it's like to be the person in charge, to work for myself, to start this thing from scratch and to mold the persons working for me, to develop my own policies, and to be in charge of what I did on a daily basis."

Money, she said, was never a motivation. "I've made a lot more than I would have working for somebody else, but I've worked very hard to do it, too." Instead, she insisted, it is success that is her number one motivation. "Success to me is not letting your failures get you down," she explained. "I really want to prove to people that certain things can be done that they say cannot be done, and I love to show people that you can take a thought like this and turn it into action.

"The saddest day for me would not be if I lost money, but if I had to close the shop and have people say, 'Well, I knew that wouldn't succeed.' "

Teaching people to become successful really means teaching them to overcome a fear, she pointed out. A psychology major at MWC, she is trained to understand that "most people have some dream or goal that they want to accomplish, but they don't have the thought processes to do it; they're afraid." The person must first identify what he or she wants, and then want it badly enough to go after it, she counsels. "I believe a lot in positive thinking, although my experiences haven't been all positive. At one point, I expanded too fast, and I had a cash flow problem. It would have been easy to have thrown in the towel, to have had a going out of business sale and to have said good-bye. But, I thought, there is going to be a way to keep this success pattern going. People have to learn this to learn success. They have to be persistent and continue to have ideas."

As the idea of opening a business began to take shape in her mind, Mrs. Sullivan assessed her strengths and determined what things made her the happiest. "I always loved clothes. I loved to shop for clothes. It was a challenge for me to get an outfit together, and I would go a long way to get just the right necklace to go with a dress," she recalled. Long before the shop opened, she received many compliments from friends and co-workers on how well-dressed she looked. "It just seemed the obvious thing. I knew I'd love being with clothes."

The concept for Ann Vaughan of Fredericksburg emerged when she saw how popular the traditional clothing popularized by such catalogs as Talbots was with her college-bound daughter. There was no local outlet for this type of clothing in the Fredericksburg area, so the creation of such a shop would be unique. Ann Vaughan "may be patterned after that concept, in that it is very, very traditional. We never strayed from that."

In planning a store that would appeal to the clientele interested in this traditional—and expensive—clothing, image building was a must. She spent money on furnishings and other little touches such as quality boxes and bags for the merchandise. Even customers who don't shop upstairs can relax in the main store in a cozy area with sofas and a magazine-strewn coffee table. Coffee is served each morning, and a maid appears natural to the setting as she clears away the cups and saucers and attends to customers' needs. It's all a part of the image. "There's a lot of me in that store, and a lot of things I've always wanted to be," she reflected.

The clientele has changed during the three years the store has been open. "I thought they'd be Fredericksburg people. I knew a lot of people from teaching, and I thought they'd buy everything they needed right here. It started out that way, but I learned one big lesson, and that is you really can't depend on your friends to build your business. They made their initial token purchases and they left, and a whole new group of people came from outside the area." A little out-of-town advertising and a lot of "word of mouth" brought the shifting clientele to her door. "We developed a mailing list and kept in touch with them," she said.

Those customers are also the recipients of invitations to her private parties held upstairs or in the small grassy back yard, always visible to shoppers through a glass doorway at the back of the store. "We were having about four big theme parties a year," she said, "with models featuring a new line or a new season." Last spring the theme was an island fling, which gave an opportunity to show off new cruise and resort wear. It was catered with Polynesian food. Another party featured New Orleans food and a player piano in the backyard. "We charged $6 for that one (to cover expenses) and had about 300 people."

The kind of success generated by Ann Vaughan has wrought some changes in its owner. "I view the broader picture now, and I find myself getting impatient with people who complain about little things," she analyzed. "I also feel able to identify with men more than I ever have—what their pressures are and why they come home distracted lots of times. It's a heavy feeling to know that you've got $100,000 worth of inventory that you must turn."

But the success pattern continues, and her confidence remains high. Kinsey Stuart Associates will be the latest outlet for the kind of confidence and winning attitude that allow her to say there was never one point during the past three years when she sat back and decided the store was a success. "I never doubted it. I knew the day it opened that it was a success," she smiled.

One to 'Live'—One to 'Love'

Two businesses stem from appreciation of art

A Mercedes pulled up in front of The Warrenton Frame Shoppe one afternoon; its owner needed a family photograph framed and was delighted when the framer suggested a ready-made frame which saved the customer about $20.

A few weeks later, the same Mercedes returned, and the driver emerged with a $100,000 painting for which she was more than willing to pay the $500 framing charge.

The framer, Elizabeth Barton Dubenitz, a 1976 graduate of Mary Washington College, got that second job because she learned a very important lesson in operating a small business—"You've got to treat everybody a little differently and cater to their needs. If it comes down to who's right and who's wrong, the customer is right and I'm wrong." Even wealthy customers want to know they've gotten a bargain, she said. When the time comes to spend the extra money, they remember.

"The customer is buying more than just supplies. He's buying your good faith, trusting you to be honest," she observed.

Mrs. Dubenitz and her husband/business partner, Greg, have learned, too, that to gain the edge over a competitor, they must offer something extra. "The frame shop is a complete, custom frame shop. We do all custom work, but we also have do-it-yourself supplies for people who want to come in and be taught how to do framing," she explained. Since her business philosophy is based upon educating the customer, she teaches classes on framing through the local parks and recreation department.

Many people think "framing is framing," she said. "Well, the difference is that I'm educated in the finer aspects of it—the museum side of it. I'm very familiar with a lot of different types of artwork and artists, with media, papers, color theory and design. And that all plays a very important part in framing."

It was her love of art—although she majored in English at MWC—that led her into the framing business two years ago, but as the business grew, she knew there was another dimension of the art business she wanted to pursue.

"The frame shop was for a living," she explained. "What we really love is the gallery." The Fifth Street Gallery—two rooms of prints, reproductions, and some originals—is located near the frame shop at the opposite end of a small shopping center in downtown Warrenton, Virginia.

"It's what my father's done for the past 25 years of his life (he owns The Sporting Gallery in Middleburg, Va.), and it's something I've always wanted to do." As it turned out, both the Dubenitzes appreciate art—"our house is floor-to-ceiling art." Soon after trying to combine a gallery of 50 to 75 pictures with the frame shop, they discovered it was just too cramped for displaying the many pieces they were gathering. So they opened a separate gallery, "to keep our sanity," she said. "This is where we both like to sit and spend our days."

However, with a framing business that has doubled in its first two years, the days are often hectic, with both husband and wife sometimes working 50 to 60 hours a week to meet deadlines.

"We've had some horrendous days," she remembered. "One day we made three trips to Washington to pick up supplies. The first year I was three weeks behind; there wasn't enough of me to go around."

Also, a national network of framers, The Professional Picture Framers Association, has come to their aid on occasion. "We've always wanted to do the very best that we could." By attending PPFA conventions and trade shows, they have broadened their knowledge of techniques and have met many fellow professionals who are only a phone call away in a time of crisis.

Working with one's husband can lead to problems, Mrs. Dubenitz was quick to admit. After a hectic initial period when the two were litterally getting in each other's way, they sat down and developed a system where "he has certain jobs and I have certain jobs," she said. "It runs very smoothly that way." By investing in power tools, the two cut the frame assembly time in half, and by renting another shop (located between the frame shop and the gallery), they were able to move his part of the operation into more spacious quarters.

The success of The Warrenton Frame Shoppe and The Fifth Street Gallery has not come by chance. In addition to their talents and love of art, Mrs. Dubenitz brought into the business a knowledge of merchandising and customer relations gained from three years of working for Bloomingdale's in Northern Virginia. "It was my first job out of college. I started out as a salesperson and worked my way up to assistant manager of cosmetics," she related. In addition to learning the finer points of how to deal with a variety of customers, she learned how to present and promote merchandise. "The framing business is 90 percent word of mouth," she explained. "It doesn't do me a lot of good to advertise unless I'm having a real big sale." Instead, she relies on having her work seen in customers' homes and on building trust and confidence among those she serves.

That's not to say she doesn't cultivate her customers. "Our clientele is changing, the more we learn and the more we cater to the town of Warrenton. We have several customers who come back with everything."

By developing a mailing list, she can always stay in touch with customers, whether it is to notify them of a sale or to invite them to a cocktail party in appreciation of their business.

"Exclusive" is the byword for both the frame shop and the gallery. "We're trying to run an exclusive frame shop, where nobody else can do the things that we can do." In the gallery, too, "I don't want to see what I have next door or down the street. We buy things that are unusual or hard to find."

Prices in the gallery range from framed posters at $75 to originals at up to $1,000. The Dubenitzes are beginning with limited editions, reproductions, engravings and etchings, but will follow in her father's footsteps and work toward handling all originals.

Admittedly horse crazy—one room of the gallery is devoted to sporting art (hunting, steeple chasing, racing and polo)—Mrs. Dubenitz views herself as successful in getting the shop opened and rolling. "Whether it's going to finance me the way I want to live, I don't know, but I'm working toward that goal. I'm happy with the business, and I feel very confident. I feel like I'm a really good member of my community and that we can both hold our heads up. We have worked really hard, and we're constantly pulling for this shop."

Business Advice—Beating the Odds

Although Doris Ann Sullivan and Elizabeth Dubenitz have established successful businesses, many others have not. American businesses are failing at the fastest pace in 50 years, according to recent figures gathered by the Associated Press. From January 1982 through mid-August, 15,133 businesses were forced to close or reorganize, up 44 percent from a year earlier. The last time there was a higher business failure rate was 1932, the AP reports.

In the following dialog, Steven L. Czarsty, chairman of the MWC Department of Economics, Business and Public Affairs, explains some of the reasons businesses fail.

Czarsty, who holds a BSBA from the University of Hartford, an MBA from the University of Connecticut and a DBA from George Washington University, organized and oversees the College's master's in business administration program, which began this fall with more than 50 students from the Fredericksburg area.

—The Editor

Q What should a prospective business owner consider before opening the door?

A Well, Linda, before one goes into business, there are several things to consider. First and most important is that approximately 95 percent of all new ventures fail in the first year. It's hard to believe, but with the current economic conditions, this figure will go higher. Most businesses fail for several reasons and not always because the idea that started the venture was a bad one. A lot of firms are begun because the entrepreneur recognizes a service that is needed or a product that no one else is selling. These people start firms before they consider all the pitfalls.

Q What are some of these pitfalls?

A The greatest pitfall is capitalization. By this I mean the amount of cash, equipment, buildings and productive capability to last through the first year. As I said, a great many ideas have launched ships only to have them sink for lack of water to keep them afloat. An idea is not enough; it takes capital to keep a firm running until the revenue starts to flow. Again, with the present economy, it is difficult to raise a lot of capital. Banks are looking for security, so they want collateral, co-signers or a record of success. It's like hunting for your first job—everyone wants experience and a proven track record.

Assuming capital is available, location is another problem. You have money and an idea, but are you in the right place to deliver the service or to produce or sell the product? Many people do not understand the problems of distribution and transportation. Generally, this ends up not being included in the price of what it is that is sold.

Q How does one decide what to charge?

A A great deal of thought should go into this and usually doesn't. Many new business owners charge what "they" would like to pay, rather than what it costs to produce the goods or service. This is probably the second reason for the high number of failures, after capitalization.

Q What do you mean?

A Let's consider product and service separately for a moment. While they will both have consumer elements, let's talk product first; it's easier.

When we are making something, a "widget," we can determine, in a simplified sense, the prices of all the materials—the yarn, glue, plastic, etc. We can determine how much of each will go into a unit produced; therefore, we know the direct cost of our product. Unfortunately this is where most people stop when they are just starting out.

The same idea appears with the service-oriented business—how much does it cost to do the service you say you are providing? The "things" most commonly left out are overhead and profit. By overhead I mean heat, lights and costs not seen directly in the finished product, and profit is a return on the capital invested.

Many people will simply say, "If it cost $1.00 for the parts and I sell it for $1.50, I will make a profit." They test the market and find it will sell for $1.50, and they go into business. One year later they're up to their neck in debt because, while they sold a ton of widgets, the 50-cent profit didn't pay the bank loan and interest or retire the delivery truck note or, more importantly, the home mortgage. While the price covered the cost of material, it didn't cover total costs including paying the entrepreneur.

Q How could that be avoided?

A Simply put, take a course in principles of economics, and if you still want to go into business, an elementary accounting course. I have even suggested that doctors and lawyers take at least an elementary accounting course. We have seminars sponsored by different groups to point out these basic pitfalls. We usually don't get to the really scary ones.

Q Like what?

A Like remembering that even if you are not profitable, you live in an age of government regulations. If we sell to consumers, we have to be tax collectors. If we employ other workers, we have to be tax collectors, tax depositors, social security collectors and match what we collect insurers and, most importantly, we have to have the cash to make the payroll on payday. If we deal across state lines, we are in interstate commerce and are subject to several states' laws. We probably need a lawyer before we get involved.

Q Does all this mean you wouldn't go into business yourself?

A No, that's not true. I have my own business.

Q Really, what's that?

A Well, that's funny because there is a third major pitfall, and I guess I am guilty of it.

Q What do you mean?

A The third major pitfall is not to give your product or service away for nothing. I consult on new and small business problems.

RAs

The minute-to-minute, hour-to-hour public relations team

By Michael Boyd

Mary Washington College takes a personalized approach to education. Whether it is with small classes, professors who are accessible or a faculty that recognizes the individual student, personal attention is the rule.

As a leader, counselor, disciplinarian and friend, the Resident Assistant (RA) extends this philosophy into the residence halls. Working under the supervision of the Office of Residence Life, RA's "are like a public relations team, dealing with situations hour to hour, minute to minute," said RA Jean Ehreth of Ball Hall.

Warren Arbogast, summer school RA, indicated the depth of individual concern when he said, "These are my students. I am watching over them; when something happens to them, it happens to me too!"

This commitment is not only characteristic of the RA's themselves, but also accurately reflects the administrative philosophy behind the Resident Assistant Program. "RA's should be available and visible," states Anne Morton, coordinator for staff selection and training. "They are the front line. They see students every day and are the first to become aware of changes in student behavior. If Sally Jones is happy one day and very quiet the next, the RA must be sensitive to this and to any changes in the residence hall environment."

RA's have four basic areas of responsibility—running their building, organizing hall activities, enforcing administrative policy and counseling students. In preparation, all RA's undergo a one-week training workshop sponsored by the Office of Residence Life so that they can successfully function as extensions of the administration in these areas of concern.

Even when RA's are not ministering directly to student needs, they must still be aware of the physical environment in which they live. As caretakers of their residence halls, RA's constantly monitor their buildings for potentially hazardous situations, organize fire drills, make sure security alarms are on and see that doors are locked at the appropriate times.

Each RA is responsible for organizing three programs per semester of a social, educational, recreational, cultural or developmental nature. In a larger sense, though, the RA acts as a catalyst for hall unity. As Chris Uthe, RA in Madison, stated, "The hall should become one big family, so I try to stress behavior that stimulates hall pride and the creation of a unified identity."

The real heart of the RA's job is his/her dual role as disciplinarian and counselor. The crucial task for an RA is to strike an equitable balance between these two potentially conflicting areas of responsibility.

As a disciplinarian, the RA must be strong enough to assert College policy and mature enough to be fair, consistent and diplomatic about applying the rules. In this area, Jean Ehreth sees herself as "a buffer zone between the administration and students, relating to students as another student, letting them know that if I can do it (abide by the rules), then you can do it too."

RA's know that the best approach for convincing students to cooperate is a tactful one. Warren Arbogast remarked, "You have to set priorities with the rules; you can't go around looking to get people in trouble. You have to work within the framework of your particular residence hall situation to benefit the students and the College."

As a counselor, the RA should encourage an environment in the residence hall that is healthy and conducive to living and learning. Often this means the RA must offer students a sympathetic shoulder and an attentive ear at any hour of the night or day. In the words of summer school RA, Jane Feeny, "The RA is supposed to make students aware that you care about them."

Problems can range from homesickness to questions about why students are at MWC or what they should major in. The RA is not a professional counselor, but in most instances a student may just need someone to bounce things off of. Chris Uthe agrees. "The best response is no response. Be a good listener; the student eventually will talk it out and see a solution himself. Just letting the student know he's not the only one with these problems can be very helpful." Serious problems are infrequent, but when they do crop up, RA's are prepared to refer them to the Counseling Center.

And how are RA's able to be involved with individual students on a very personal level and yet maintain sufficient distance to enforce the rules? It's not easy, and certainly some RA's are more successful at it than others. Jane Feeny says, "You must make them know you care about them and your job." Chris Uthe suggests that students will understand this role and respond positively if he lets it be known from the start that "I'm a student first, but I have my job and I have to do it. I won't relinquish my duties because I'm a student."

An Inviting Opportunity— The Associates of Trinkle Library

By Edward Alvey, Jr.

The role of the library continues to expand. Once regarded as essentially a repository—still its most important function—of books and manuscripts, magazines, newspapers and miscellaneous printed documents, the library of today is also a service institution. It makes its facilities available to all kinds of readers, offers information and reference services on a broad basis, sponsors lectures and exhibitions, and, in a word, stimulates the intellectual life of the community.

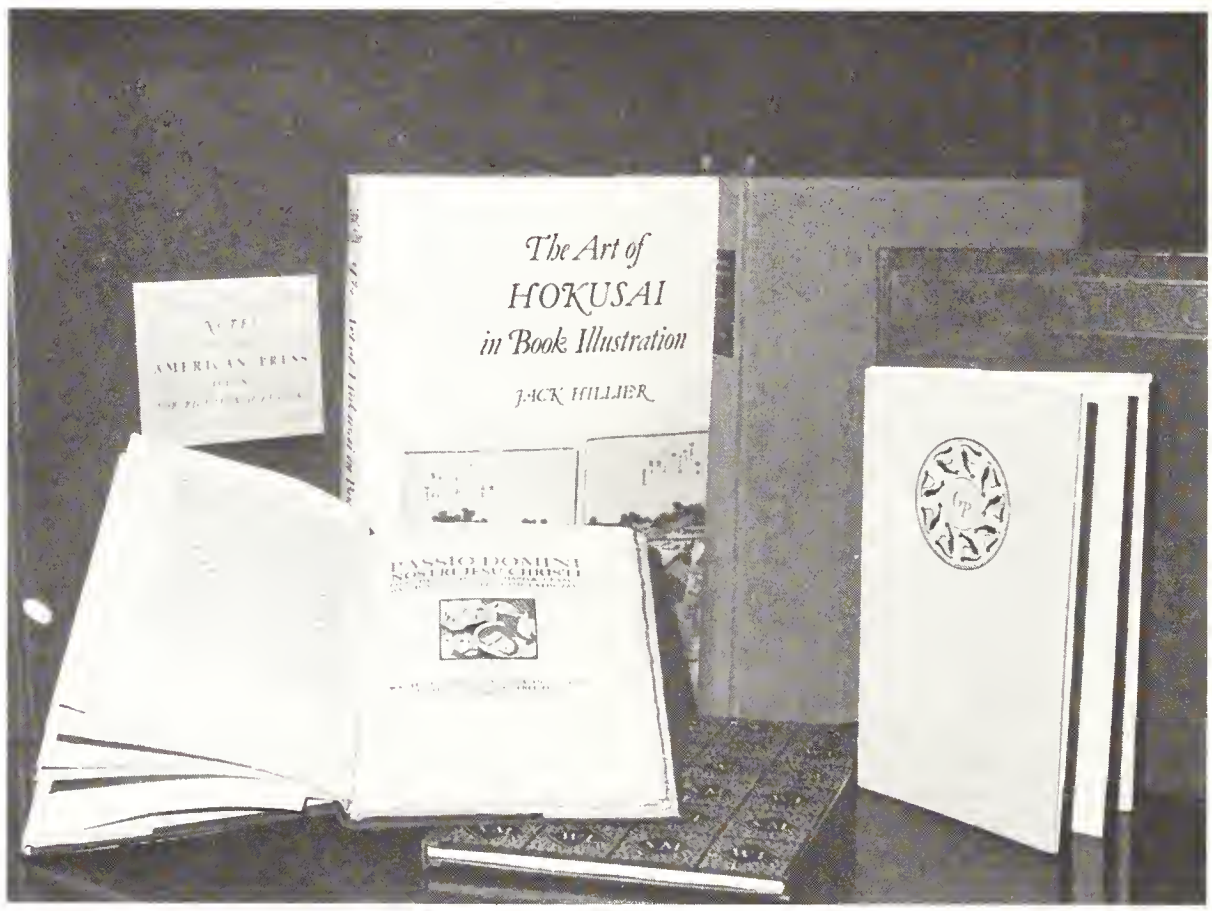
Recently, the library and the community have been drawn together more closely through the organization of a "friends" group, which plays an increasingly important role in advancing this new concept of library services.

The Associates of Trinkle Library was organized in December 1977 at the suggestion of Ruby Y. Weinbrecht, Mary Washington College librarian, who prepared detailed plans for the organization and guided the formation of the group.

Members of the associates have given to the library in numerous ways, from outright gifts of books and money to sponsorship of enrichment programs for the College an community. In turn, as individuals, they have had opportunities to meet other people who share their interest in books, to tour outstanding libraries and museums and to participate in educational and cultural programs. A perquisite of membership includes full use of Trinkle Library.

At the outset, it was agreed that the role and function of the group should be determined by two principles: that the library and the associates should be independent of each other and that the library and the associates should cooperate closely and effectively.

Seed money was contributed by the Alumni Fund to cover initial expenses. Although for tax purposes, the associates operates under the MWC Foundation charter, the organization is completely autonomous.



A selection from Associates' 1981 gift of books on bookmaking.

During the first year of operation, 60 people joined the organization. Approximately 50 people gathered in the Gari Melchers studio at Belmont for the first meeting—a wine and cheese party at which Garrett Epes, author of The Shad Treatment, was the guest of honor.

Many other outstanding speakers have addressed the group. In 1980 Dr. Robert B. Oxnam, then vice president and now president of the Asia Society and director of the Washington Center, spoke on "China Today" at a dinner meeting.

The director of the Folger Shakespeare Library, Dr. O. B. Hardison, Jr., spoke on "Treasures of the Folger Library" to the associates and their guests.

Several speakers participated in a colloquium on "Partners in Preserving Our Heritage," during which they discussed the various aspects of the role of the library.

Another popular speaker was J. Bryan III of Richmond, who discussed his book, The Windsor Story. He gave his listeners a fascinating behind-the-scenes look at the incredible life of the Windsors.

The director and librarian of the American Antiquarian Society, Marcus McCorison, spoke at a dinner meeting and showed slides of many of the rare books and manuscripts owned by the society.

There have also been interesting local speakers, including a delightful slide-lecture on "The Chipmunk Conspiracy," by MWC professor Lawrence Wishner, and a slide-lecture on the life and works of Horatio Alger, Jr., by Jack Bales, reader services librarian of Trinkle Library, who is editor of the Horatio Alger Society's monthly publication.

An early project of the associates was the publication of Trinkle Library Contributions Number One: Spanish Views of the Settlement of Jamestown by Edward Alvey, Jr., professor emeritus and former dean of MWC. Another publication followed in 1980: A Man from Padua, by Mary Pinschmidt, professor of biology at MWC. It described the significance of the rare 1645 Amsterdam work, Opera Quae Extant Omnia by Adriaan van de Spiegal, which was given to the Woodward Collection by Dr. Gordon Jones.

An ambitious project of the associates has been the Antiquarian Book Fair, held each fall at Mary Washington College. The first one was held in duPont Hall in October 1979. Prints, maps, manuscripts and more than 1,500 rare books were offered for sale by antiquarian dealers.

Because so many of the associates own and enjoy rare books, the group has sponsored several programs where members discuss and display the rare or unusual books that they own. Other programs have honored local authors, who showed and discussed their works.

One important benefit of membership in the associates is the opportunity to take specially arranged tours and trips. One such tour took the members to the Library of Congress, where they had an opportunity to go into the stacks and view special collections. After lunch, the group assembled in the Great Hall of the Folger Shakespeare Library for another special tour.

In April 1982 there was a special visit to the library and museum of the Virginia Historical Society in Richmond, where a number of the rare books and manuscripts owned by the society were brought out for inspection by the associates. After lunch at the Virginia Museum, the group was given a special tour of the Virginia House and its library.

Most important of all, perhaps, have been the gifts to the Trinkle Library made by the associates. Their first gift, in December 1979, was a fine copy of The Case of the Planters of Virginia . . . to which is added a Vindication of the Said Representation, printed in London in 1733. An article describing the little book and its significance, written by Dr. Gordon Jones, appeared in the December 1979 issue of News and Views from Trinkle.

In October 1981 the associates purchased for $1,500 and presented to the library a collection of 19 books about the origin of bookmaking and printing that are themselves examples of fine modern printing. These gifts were placed on display in the rotunda of the library and described by Dr. Jones in the October 1981 issue of News and Views from Trinkle. They are now housed in the rare book room.

Students, faculty, alumni and local residents are invited to join the Associates of Trinkle Library and share in its various activities. For more information on membership, write Ruby Y. Weinbrecht, Librarian, Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, VA 22401.

Edward Alvey Jr., is professor emeritus and former dean of MWC.

Applications Up; Alumni Volunteers to Recruit

Once again, this year, there were smiles on the faces of those in the MWC Admissions Office. The momentum of increased freshman applications, begun last year, continued through 1981-82, though at a slightly reduced pace. In the last two years, freshman applications have increased by nearly 50 percent.

This year's near 10 percent increase in freshman applications came primarily from two sources: male and out-of-state students. Although the number of female applicants increased by a respectable 6 percent, male applications grew by almost 20 percent. And while in-state applications increased by 2 percent, the size of this year's pool was greatly boosted by a 25 percent gain in out-of-state applications. From states such as Maryland, New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts, increases ranged from 18 percent to as much as 85 percent. These figures support the belief that many more students now perceive MWC as a coeducational school and an educational bargain.

This greater number of applications has meant increased selectivity for the Admissions Office. Admission is now offered to a higher percentage of quality students. For example, 34 percent of the 1982-83 freshman class is from the top tenth of their high school classes as opposed to 30 percent for 1981-82. More than 60 percent of this year's class is from the top fifth of their graduating classes. In addition, average SAT scores for this year's freshmen have climbed above last year's in both verbal and math areas. Ironically, as more male students apply to MWC and the character of the College changes, the application pool balloons, allowing for greater selectivity and ensuring the college's tradition of academic excellence.

To keep the ball rolling this coming year and to continue to improve on past recruiting performance will be a challenge for the Admissions Office. Success in the past two years has been the direct result of a willingness on the part of the admissions staff, alumni, professors and athletic coaches to work together. However, with dwindling numbers of high school graduates in the 1980s, recruiting sufficient numbers of quality students will become extremely competitive. It will probably be necessary to broaden the recruiting network to continue to be successful. This year the Admissions Office will ask MWC alumni to take on greater recruiting responsibilities than they have had in the past. For the first time, the Admissions Office will publish an Alumni Handbook to provide specific guidelines for alumni recruiters. A coordinator of alumni student recruitment will organize recruiting efforts among chapter and non-chapter alumni. With this intensified team effort, the Admission Office hopes to guarantee continued academic excellence at Mary Washington College.

In order for the Alumni-Student Recruitment Program to be effective, we need your involvement. Will you help with student recruitment?

Neal Becomes Rector In BOV Reorganization

With the retirement of its rector and the appointment of four new members, the Mary Washington College Board of Visitors, the College's governing board, has reorganized for the 1982-83 year.

Gov. Charles S. Robb appointed the four new members in June. They are Rita Morgan Stone '52, a school principal from Fairfax; J. Rupert Picott, executive director of The Association for the Study of Afro-American Life and History in Washington, D.C.; Kathleen Patricia Mayer '78, an administrative assistant and office manager for a Washington, D.C., architectural firm; and Anne Price Fortney, an attorney from Washington, D.C.

They replace Katherine Hopper, rector for the past four years who was ineligible for reappointment; John G. Castles, who has since been appointed by Robb as Adjutant General of the Virginia National Guard; Sue S. Hane, and J. Hugo Madison.

In its first meeting, the new board elected the following officers: Gail Neal, rector; Newman Hamblet, vice rector; and Rita M. Stone, secretary. In addition to these three, Arabelle L. Arrington and Benjamin H. Woodbridge, Jr., will serve on the Executive Committee of the board.

Dan Steen and Anne Thompson see board appointment as proof of trust in student body.

First Student Joins MWC Board

By Janice Conway

For the first time in its history, the Mary Washington College Board of Visitors has invited a student to join its ranks. Anne Thompson, Student Association president, has joined the board following the July vote approving the annual seating of a nonvoting, student representative on the board.

"Student participation will be an asset," Thompson said. "I feel very fortunate and honored to be the first SA president to serve on the board," she added.

As the student representative, Thompson will be allowed to participate in all board discussions but, in addition to not having a vote, she will be excluded from executive sessions of the board and its committees.

Thompson explained, "Following their vote, every member in some way welcomed me to the board. They encouraged me to speak my mind. So, I'm not going to be hesitant. I plan to speak my mind in an effort to represent the students. By doing so, I hope to develop a better picture of the student body—in the eyes of the administration and the board," she added.

Thompson's efforts will center around a "Student Responsibility Campaign." She hopes that through her representation, she will be able to prove that when given the opportunity, students are mature enough to handle responsibility in a positive way. According to Thompson, "The board's action signifies their realization that things do need to change in relation to a changing college." She added, "If students want such changes they must first realize that changes only come when they prove that they deserve them."

The board's decision was also an important victory for fellow student Dan Steen who has represented student concerns at MWC in several capacities. His efforts in the Virginia Student Association (VASA), an organization of college student governments that work together on educational legislation before the General Assembly, have been extremely successful. Last January as VASA vice-president, Steen successfully lobbied the General Assembly in an attempt to pass legislation allowing student representatives to serve on the boards of state colleges and universities.

According to Steen, who now serves as VASA president, student representation on the boards has been a priority issue since VASA was founded in 1978. "Over the years," he added, "the lobbying effort gained momentum until we put it through the assembly this year."

By approving the proposal, MWC joins Old Dominion University, the only other state college or university to approve the non-voting student member measure. Steen explained that other schools, such as Virginia Commonwealth University, Virginia Tech, and the University of Virginia have students serving in some capacity; however, they are not directly on the board. "The board's decision is a significant, forward measure," he said. "Our representation then, will serve as a model. It proves that our Board of Visitors and our administration have sufficient trust in our student leadership—a relationship that has fully developed in the last few years."

MWC Foundation Establishes Crow Scholarship

The Mary Washington College Foundation has established an endowed scholarship entitled The Lester D. Crow Scholarship Fund. The principal donor is Dr. Lester D. Crow, a former faculty member of the College. Dr. Crow began his college teaching career at the State College for Teachers at Fredericksburg, which later became Mary Washington College.

The principal endowment gift is $5,000, the interest on which will be used as an annual scholarship for a worthy and deserving student during his/her student teaching semester. The donor may add to the endowment and encourages gifts of any amount from alumni and friends of MWC.

A professor at Brooklyn College for 35 years, Dr. Crow is the author of more than 70 books on education, psychology, guidance, parenting and human development. In addition, he has developed numerous standardized achievement tests and has written for professional journals.

His gift to MWC is one of many philanthropic activities undertaken by Dr. Crow. Since his retirement he has established numerous scholarships and award funds to help able and needy students who were preparing to teach.

Gifts to The Lester D. Crow Scholarship Fund may be sent to The Mary Washington College Foundation, P.O. Box 1456 College Station, Fredericksburg, Virginia 22402. All gifts are tax deductible.

Faculty News

Bulent I. Atalay, professor of physics, has received a $5,200 grant to help finance his study in the field of theoretical physics. The Thomas F. Jeffress and Kate Miller Jeffress Memorial Trust has made $800,000 in grants to support the work of 19 scientists in Virginia colleges and universities during the past three years. The trust was established in the will of Richmond philanthropist Robert M. Jeffress, in the name of his parents.

Paul C. Slayton, Jr., professor of education, has been appointed a regional judge for the 1982 Achievement Awards in Writing Programs offered by the National Council of Teachers of English. He will read writing samples submitted by high school students nominated for the awards by their schools' English departments.

Mildred A. Droste, associate professor of health and physical education, was elected national director of elections at the 25th National Triennial Conference of Mortar Board. She worked as a section coordinator for Mortar Board for six years.

Juliette B. Blessing, professor of French, received an award from the French government recognizing her contributions in advancing French culture. The award was presented by the cultural attaché of the French Embassy at a reception in the Alumni House.

H. Conrad Warlick has been named vice president for admissions and financial aid at Mary Washington College. Formerly dean of admissions and financial aid at MWC, he has been at the College since 1974.

Charles A. Repp, Jr., formerly director of development, has been named vice president for development. Repp came to MWC last fall from the West Virginia School of Osteopathic Medicine, where he had served as dean for planning and development.

Richard P. Palmieri, associate professor of geography and curator of furniture for the College, attended the 1982 Summer Institute of the Henry Francis duPont Winterthur Museum in Winterthur, Delaware. Each year 25 people from across the nation are invited to attend. Designed for museum staff and college and university faculty, the institute provides exposure to historical American artifacts through the resources of the Winterthur Museum and its libraries.

Robert S. Rycroft, assistant professor of economics, represented the College's Phi Beta Kappa Chapter at the Thirty-Third Triennial Council of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa in Boston, Massachusetts. Representatives of 201 chapters and 24 associations attended the convention. Issues discussed included amendments to the national constitution, election of officers, admission of new chapters and the role of the local chapter.

Holiday Workshop to be Sponsored by Center for Historic Preservation

On Saturday, December 4, the MWC Center for Historic Preservation will present its second annual Christmas With All the Trimmings, a one-day program of practical workshops on various facets of historic holiday celebration in America, designed to develop skills useful in planning your own holiday festivities.

The morning workshop will demonstrate how modern techniques can be used to make historically accurate Christmas arrangements from traditional materials. The decorations created during the workshop demonstration will be given to members of the audience chosen at random. During the early afternoon workshop participants will encounter the tastes and smells of exquisite holiday fare and spirits judiciously selected and authentically prepared. Everyone will receive copies of the recipes, and the finished products will be given to members of the audience at random. Following the afternoon session, participants will gather at an historic location in Fredericksburg to sample Christmas food and drink, and to examine representative decorations while being entertained with appropriate period music of the season.

For more information on Christmas With All the Trimmings, contact the Center for Historic Preservation, 915 Monroe Street at Sunken Road, Fredericksburg, Virginia 22401, telephone (703) 899-4037. In view of the success of last year's program, early registration will be advisable!

Persistence Pays For Ailing Oak

Over the years, a certain tree has become as much a part of Brompton as the stately home itself. Historians recall its use during the Civil War when Clara Barton and her team of nurses administered aid to soldiers beneath the branches of the Brompton Oak. Since a tradition was established more than 20 years ago, alumni recall the shade of the great oak as they met at their welcoming receptions and as they said goodbye following their graduation exercises.

Unfortunately, according to experts, the health of the oak has been on the decline. In an effort to determine what afflicts it, tree experts representing private, state and national agencies have examined the tree. Based upon their research, Tom Leback, the College's assistant director of the physical plant, says he is doing everything possible to keep the tree alive. "But tree experts are like doctors," he said, "everyone has a different opinion. In terms of diagnosis and treatment we did, however, determine several common denominators," he added.

The oak's primary problem is its old age. Although the tree's exact age cannot be determined, it has been estimated to be between 200 and 300 years old. Leback explained, "As a tree ages, its resistence becomes lower; thus, it becomes more susceptible to disease."

Currently, the Brompton Oak is suffering from "Shoestring Root Rot" and "Chesnut Bores," diseases which only seriously affect trees that are already suffering from other problems such as draught, or old age, as in the case of the Brompton Oak.

The limited amount of history surrounding the oak's upkeep has also posed problems for Leback. For the period prior to 1946, there are no documented records concerning the tree's health. In 1946, the Davey Tree Service performed pruning, fertilizing, cavity cabeling and lightening protection on the tree. Based upon this information, and the possibility that something could have happened before the treatment, Leback said that the tree may have been on the decline for 20 to 40 years.

Currently, proper treatment of the ailing oak is Leback's main concern. The tree is regularly watered, pruned, fertilized and tested for proper soil acidity.

Although the tree appears to die back a little each year, the persistence of the grounds crew has produced some positive results. Leback concluded, "The oak is maintaining good leaf color as well as a good flush of growth. The Brompton Oak is certainly not dead."

Costs Rise at Most Va. Colleges

Mary Washington College was the only state-supported college in Virginia to hold its 1982-83 increase in costs below 10 percent for Virginia residents. The College's charges for the year, including tuition, fees and room and board, are $3,384, up 9.4 percent.

Increases in maximum charges for state undergraduates at other four-year, state-supported colleges and universities varied from 10.3 percent to 16.9 percent, while at Virginia's private schools, increases in maximum charges for in-state undergraduates varied from 5.6 to 17.6 percent. Maximum charges in state-supported colleges and universities range from $2,782 to $4,346 and in private Virginia schools, $3,990 to $9,035.

According to the Virginia Council of Higher Education, college costs throughout the U.S. are increasing at a faster pace than the nation's inflation rate after several years of remaining behind the trend of higher prices. For Virginians, these figures represent the highest tuition and fee increases in recent memory.

MWC officials point to a 1982-83 appropriation from the state that was considerably less than the amount needed for the College to maintain its established level of excellence as the factor behind this year's increase in charges.

MARY WASHINGTON COLLEGE FOUNDATION, INC.
Report of Gifts 1981-82

Message from the President

Dear Alumni and Friends of Mary Washington College:

I am happy to report that the 1981-82 Mary Washington Annual Fund produced a new high in giving to the College. A total of $155,497 was received from all sources. Individual alumni contributions combined with company matching gifts of alumni amounted to $97,590 or 63 percent of the total. Alumni Chapters contributed an additional total of $6,050. I extend to each of you who contributed to the Annual Fund my personal thanks and the appreciation of the College.

The President's Club, established to honor those who contributed a $1,000 or more during the year, increased from 14 members in 1980-81 to 22 members in 1981-82. It is hoped that membership in this leadership giving group will grow substantially this year to at least a total membership of 50.

The data provided in the "Gifts Summary Report" included on this page is both encouraging and disappointing. While the total dollars contributed by individual alumni and chapters in 1981-82 was approximately $4,700 greater than the year before, the number of alumni who contributed to the College dropped by 149 from the previous year. It is, of course, gratifying that alumni are increasing the size of their gifts; but it is equally important to increase substantially the number of alumni who are supporting Mary Washington.

A special note of thanks is given to the faculty, parents, friends, students and businesses and corporations who contributed to the Annual Fund. Their total support for the College accounted for 37 percent of the total Annual Fund.

I cannot stress too strongly the absolute necessity for Mary Washington to receive increased financial support from its alumni and other private sources in the years ahead. Governor Robb and the Virginia Legislature have made it clear that State financial support for higher education must be limited in the years ahead in order for the Commonwealth to fund other priority needs. Indeed, the Governor has urged colleges to seek non-State support for their programs and activities.

Let me focus on 1982-83, the current fiscal year for a moment. The original appropriation from the Commonwealth was considerably less than the amount needed for the College to maintain its established level of excellence. It was, therefore, necessary for Mary Washington College to increase its tuition and fee charges to the students by nearly 10 percent. Now Mary Washington, like all State institutions of higher education, is faced with a mandate from the Governor to reduce expenditures by 5 percent, in 1982-83. Unless the College can obtain financial support from private giving to absorb this State cut, the College will have to reduce book purchases for the library, eliminate the purchase of instructional equipment and forgo needed maintenance and building repairs. All of these actions will impact on the quality dimension of the institution.

I urge each of you to raise your level of giving to the Annual Fund. The goal of $200,000 in private giving to the Annual Fund, the same as last year, can be met by each of you increasing your support for Mary Washington College. Please do so!

Sincerely,

Prince B. Woodard

Sports

Winter Sports Preview

After a spectacularly successful winter sports season in 1981-82, Mary Washington's wintertime teams are aiming for further improvement during the 1982-83 campaign.

Following four seasons of steady improvement, topped by a 16-10 mark in 1981-82, the MWC men's basketball team has a difficult path to follow in 1982-83. Led by junior Frank Gilmore, the squad's leading scorer and rebounder for the past two seasons, the Tide has upgraded its schedule with the addition of Mount St. Mary's College, a Division II power, and Virginia Wesleyan College and Johns Hopkins University. The 26-game schedule includes two Division II teams and three 1981-82 NCAA tournament participants.

In women's basketball, Coach Connie Gallahan has eliminated the weaker teams from a schedule that allowed her Tide team to fashion a 20-6 record and still expects a better season in the coming year. Competing as an NCAA Division III independent, as do the MWC men, the women will leave their three consecutive AIAW Virginia Division IV titles behind and face new opponents such as Catholic University and NCAA tournament teams Frostburg State College and Christopher Newport College.

With only one senior lost to graduation, the women's swim team is hoping to repeat its 1982 regional championship. The team will again be led by junior Ann Cumming and sophomore Rebecca Berry. The pair represented Mary Washington College at the NCAA national Division III meet and holds 13 of the 18 MWC individual event records.

Talented players will not be in short supply for either basketball coach. Gallahan lost only senior guard Jenny Utz to graduation and has over 30 incoming players vying for positions on the team. Men's basketball coach Tom Davies has more than 20 candidates hoping to replace four graduated seniors. For the first time, Davies plans to field a junior varsity squad as well.

Gallahan's rookies should fill predominantly backup roles since each of the five starters and the top 10 scorers from a year ago return. Davies, on the other hand, is looking for a replacement for Tim Money. Money will serve as Davies' assistant coach in 1982-83; as a senior, the guard dominated MWC's record books.

Alumni News

Homecoming 1982

Rain did not dampen the spirits of the alumni who celebrated Homecoming June 4-6, 1982. With housing and activities on campus there was not much need to be out in the rain!

To lower costs and increase the fun, Devils were housed in Mason Hall and Goats in Randolph Hall. Spouses were allowed to stay with alumni, and one husband was excited about being able to get past the lobby, where he was restricted while dating his wife.

On Friday evening, June 4, a wine and cheese party in the residence halls gave alumni a chance to meet with old friends and relax. The classes of 1932 (50th reunion), 1957 (25th reunion) and 1962 (the highest giving) were honored at a Mary Washington College Foundation Reception at Anne Fairfax House. The Fredericksburg Chapter hosted a semi-formal dance with music by Levin Houston, which proved to be one of the highlights of the weekend.

Saturday, June 5, began with a Golden Club breakfast at Seacobeck, where members from the class of 1932 were formally inducted as new members. The annual meeting of the Alumni Association gave alumni a chance to meet incoming and outgoing members of the Alumni Association Board of Directors, and special recognition awards were presented. The most honored award, 1982 Distinguished Alumnus, was presented to Kathryn Garland Obenshain '53 for her accomplishments in the area of music; Mike Bennett '82 was recognized for having received the Alumni Award for outstanding leadership and academic achievement at convocation; Patrick Lafferty '84 was introduced as the 1982 Simpson Scholar chosen to pursue studies in France. Following the meeting, alumni moved to Seacobeck for lunch. Class meeting and parties rounded out Saturday's activities and the scheduled events for homecoming.

Homecoming 1983

Homecoming '83 is scheduled for May 20-22, 1983, so make plans now to attend. Housing will be available on campus again, and all major activities will take place there, also.

This will be the 75th Anniversary Homecoming. Though the classes of 1933, 1938, 1943, 1948, 1953, 1958, 1963, 1968, 1973 and 1978 will still be the honored classes, we hope to have more than usual non-reunion returnees to help celebrate the college's 75th birthday!

Distinguished Alumnus Award 1982

"The Distinguished Alumnus Award shall be made to an alumnus of Mary Washington College, who, in the opinion of his fellow alumni, has made an outstanding contribution in one or more of the following areas: his/her profession or career, civic activities, creative endeavors in the arts and/or sciences, humanitarian causes and service to Mary Washington College. Nominees must be graduates of Mary Washington College."

This year's Distinguished Alumnus is Dr. Kathryn Garland Obenshain, Class of 1953. Dr. Obenshain is a musician, author, composer, teacher, civic leader, humanitarian, wife, mother and supporter of Mary Washington College.

She has been a dedicated member of the faculty at Radford College for 14 years and received the 1981 Radford Foundation Award for outstanding service and professorial excellence. Her published works include numerous articles on piano pedagogy and musicological subjects and songs and vocal collections for children and church choirs. She is organist for her church, choir director, and piano instructor for many nationally recognized pianists. Copies of Dr. Obenshain's published work are housed in the Mary Washington College Library in the section devoted to works authored by alumni.

Dr. Obenshain is married to Raymond F. Obenshain. They have two children, one a 1978 Mary Washington College graduate.

Distinguished Alumnus Award 1983

All nominations for the Distinguished Alumnus 1983 must be in to the Alumni Office by December 1, 1982. The caliber of the nominees continues to be high. It is important that your nomination packet include as much information and as many references as possible. Each member of the Distinguished Alumnus Committee reviews the nominees' files and votes according to the available information. If you have nominated someone before, please update that nomination with current references and information.

Please contact Virginia Poole Kinniburgh, 6606 Baymeadow Court, McLean, Va. 22101 or Bobbie Burton, Director of Alumni Affairs, P.O. Box 1315, College Station, Fredericksburg, Va. 22402, if you need assistance with the presentation of your nominee.

Nomination to Board of Visitors

The Committee for Nominations to the Board of Visitors of Mary Washington College is accepting recommendations for nominees until Dec. 15, 1982. If you have a recommendation, please mail it to:

New Assignment For Trench Hill

In late June, the Alumni Association, along with the Office of Development and the Mary Washington College Foundation, moved from Anne Fairfax House to Trench Hill. The new quarters are much more spacious and elegant. While offices are located on the second floor, the first floor will be developed into a multi-purpose entertainment and meeting center for alumni and friends of the College.

The alumni phone number remains the same—(703) 899-4648—as does the mailing address (P.O. Box 1315, College Station, Fredericksburg, Va. 22402). Trench Hill is located on the corner of Sunken Road and Hanover Street. Take College Avenue through the stop light on Rt. 3/ William Street and take a left at the Battleground Complex.

75th Anniversary Notice to Alumni

Many of you responded to our request for help in conducting research in preparation for the College's 75th Anniversary celebration. We appreciate your response, and would like to again ask that anyone who can help please contact Mrs. Frances Liebenow Armstrong '36, Mary Washington College Alumni Association, Box 1315 College Station, Fredericksburg, VA. 22402.

The following are two specific questions from Mrs. Armstrong:

1. How many of your family attended MWC? (Include names, please.) How many generations?
2. Do you have MWC artifacts that you would be willing to give or lend the College for display during the 75th Anniversary celebration?

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Whenever alumni gather stories about student life at Mary Washington abound. The Alumni Association wants to reminisce with you! In preparation for the 75th Anniversary, we are collecting some lesser known tales about student life at MWC. What was life like when you were a student?

If you have a story to tell, we want to hear from you. Please take a few minutes and send your thoughts to:

Chapter News

Fredericksburg Chapter—The Fredericksburg Chapter wound up the 1981-82 year with its annual Crab Feast and a semi-formal dance. On a damp and dreary Sunday more than 70 alumni, spouses and children gathered for crabs, beer and homemade ice cream at Alum Spring Park. At this time, Suzanne Smithson Hall '75 was elected chapter vice-president for a two year term. Two weeks later, on Homecoming weekend, local alumni couples and returning alumni enjoyed Levin Houston and his music at a dance in Lee Hall Ballroom sponsored by the chapter.

Chapter members and other local alumni had every right to a good time. During the year they baked more than 360 cakes for student birthdays and holidays. They delivered 345 silk roses on Valentine's Day and packed and delivered more than 830 exam survival kits for the two semesters. Their time and effort resulted in a $3,000 contribution to the Regional Scholarship Program.

Plans for this fall began with an open house, luncheon and annual meeting at Trench Hill. After a series of three Wednesday Workshops, chapter members hope to gather for a Christmas tree-trimming party.

Officers for the 1982-83 year include: Denise Mattingly Luck '74, president; Suzanne Smithson Hall '75, vice-president; Virginia Kiernan Burke '75, treasurer and Laura Ann Ewers Cline '77, secretary. Committee chairmen are: Tammy Willis '81 and Karen Peters Zirkle '74 for the Homemade Cake project; Laura Ann Cline and Karen Zirkle for the Survival Kit/Valentine Rose project and Alice Schermerhorn Raines '78 for the Wednesday Workshops.

Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Chapter—At regular monthly meetings this summer, the newly formed Metropolitan Washington, D.C. Chapter launched several projects to actively represent MWC in the Nation's Capital. Chapter President Jane Knight Stuckey '65, has urged all Washington, D.C. area alumni to participate in the events planned for this year.

Major goals of the new chapter are to establish a link for alumni to the intellectual life on campus, and to support and assist the College and the Alumni Association in recruitment and financial endeavors.

Business meetings of alumni began in June and continue to be held monthly. The September meeting was a special business meeting combined with presentations by Bobbie Burton, director of alumni affairs, and Katherine Hopper, former rector and chairman of MWC's 75th Anniversary Committee, who spoke about the upcoming Founders Day celebration. Focus of the meeting, held at the Alexandria Old Club, was discussion of Founders Day activities and ways the chapter can contribute to and participate in the celebration.

The next major activity is A Tasting Luncheon to be held on October 23, from 12 to 2 p.m., at the First Baptist Church of Clarendon, located at Wilson Boulevard and Highland Street in Arlington. This is the first fundraiser for the group and will feature samples of food prepared by Mary Washington alumni.

Other ideas in the making include sponsoring a dance production by MWC dancers in the spring of 1983 as a fundraiser for Founders Day; and establishment of a mentor program which would pair alumni with students to help make career decisions.

New officers, elected for a one-year term, are:

Jane Knight Stuckey, '65, President
Marcia Minton Keech, '61, Vice-President
Patricia Haynes, '81, Secretary

The chapter plans four major events each year, in addition to monthly business meetings held the second Tuesday (evening) of each month. All Mary Washington graduates are encouraged to get involved with chapter activities. For further information, contact Jane Stuckey at (703)-528-5123.

Classnotes

Many, many thanks to the class agents who sent such complete and well organized news this time. The Alumni Office appreciates very much your efforts to use the correct format as described in the Handbook for Class Agents. Keep up the good work.

The winter issue of MWC TODAY will be a special 75th Anniversary issue and will not include class notes. Your class agent will need to have your news by Feb. 1 to meet their deadline for the spring issue.

Talked to Ann Williams Moore, the daughter of Mannie Torbert Kelly. Ann lives in Richmond and cannot visit in Bristol as often as she would like. She says her mother is in a wheel chair, but is very alert and has fair health. She enjoys the residents in the home. Her dentist son in Bristol sees her each day.

I saw Laurie McIntosh Bowman at the historic Leigh Street Baptist Church here in Richmond. Her father is pastor there, and is also my son, William's pastor. William was recently ordained as a deacon in that church.

On April 3, my daughter, Virginia Johnson, and I attended the MWC Richmond Chapter meeting and luncheon at the Engineer's Club. Charles A. Repp, MWC vice president for devel opment, spoke on "Needs and Goals of MWC Today". There I saw Christine Farrar, Dorothy Delmar, Louise Melbourne Clark, Mildred Brown Ragland and Anne Latane Ware Bedinger. They looked well. Mildred moved into Westminster Canterbury in May of this year.

Nannie Page Burrus at the Culpeper Baptist Home, attends religious services in the chapel and visits the sick in the Health Care Center. Nannie Page stays well except for poor vision.

Elsie Wood Rice has a great-great-granddaughter. Elsie had a recent visit from Pam and her baby. Elsie says she is a darling, good baby. Elsie has a grandson on duty in Ohio. His wife, two children and her parents will fly to Greece to visit relatives for five weeks. Elsie had made no plans for Homecoming. I had to miss it this time. Now it is past history.

Mary Frances Harrell is a patient in Health Care Center in Westminster Canterbury. Nurse gave a good report. Looks well—goes to beauty salon and on field trips.

I glimpse Helen Phillips sometimes at Retired Teacher's meetings. She resides at Imperial Plaza in Richmond.

Elizabeth Ninde is well and happy. Her family helps her, as she no longer drives. One married son lives in Richmond.

Shenna Leigh Pike, my great granddaughter, had a tour with her school group to Europe, where she visited Madrid, Spain, Paris, France, and London, England. A wonderful trip for a 13-year old. A grandson in Bangor, Maine graduated in June with top honors. Another grandson who has been in Diego Garcia, a small island off the coast of Africa in the Indian Ocean, has now returned to his home port of Gulfport, Mississippi. He is in the Navy and married his fiancee from Presque Isle, Maine before leaving for overseas duty in March.

June 3rd, "Massing of the Flags" at Jefferson Davis Monument in Richmond was sponsored by United Daughters of the Confederacy for the 16th consecutive time. Kathleen Graves Brooks, president of the Hanover Chapter, of which I am a member, was in attendance also.

Elizabeth Chenery Eley died June 6, 1982. She had a daughter with whom she lived in her later years. She was originally from Ashland and was buried there in Woodland Cemetery. She was related to the owner of Meadow Farm in Doswell, Virginia, famous for breeding and training such great racehorses as Riva Ridge, Secretariat and many others. Our sympathy to her daughter.

Heard that Fannie Hiter Bowie of Bowling Green has recently been a patient in the hospital.

Do write about yourselves and family.

It is with sorrow that I write this report for the Alumni Association. I received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. William Young of Fort Meyers, Florida informing me of the death of Lelia Mae Green Young, his mother, who graduated in 1919. Lilia Mae, a retired teacher from the Hanover County, Virginia public schools, died in Fort Meyers January 12, 1982.

Lelia Mae began her career in education by teaching in the elementary grades in Hanover County, going later to Petersburg. She retired from Washington Henry High School in Hanover County about 1962.

She leaves one son and two grandchildren of Fort Meyers, Florida.

Class Motto: "Perseverance Wins Success"

Clara Boyd Wheeler, looking younger than a Golden Club member, was at Homecoming '82. Clara just oozes with love for her Alma Mater. It would not be a grand ole reunion if Clara were not seen on the MWC Campus.

Margaret Rinehardt McKenry again missed the Homecoming. She had to attend graduation exercises at her grandson's prep school. If anyone knows how to get "Skinney" back to MWC once more, please write to me.

Audrey Steele Smith, who so anxiously planned her '82 Golden Club meeting, was sadly disappointed. Her doctor ordered the ever busy Audrey to vacate for a "good rest."

It was a pleasant surprise to see "Ditty" Frances Kline at our reunion. She is a most beautiful person now living in Fredericksburg. It was also thrilling to see Ginny Kline '32, her sister, there for her 50th Reunion. She too looked as beautiful as ever you can imagine.

Kaye Gallagher Spirito, your class agent, was disappointed, not because of the rainy weekend, but because only three of the class of '31 attended: Frances Kline, Clara Boyd Wheeler, and Kaye Gallagher. Kaye expected a much better attendance after personally writing 85 cards to the Class of '31 before Homecoming. Hope you will make up for it at the 75th Anniversary Homecoming next May. Kaye is sending each of the Class of '31 her personal plea!

Elvere Conner Cox '30 had Kaye Gallagher Spirito as her house guest before and after Homecoming. They had a grand time going to antique shops and auctions.

Incidentally, my classmates '31—it was great fun staying in the dormitories for the Homecoming. Believe me-you missed a priceless experience. Let that tempt you for '83.

I would like to thank each one of my classmates who wrote to me in answer to my cards at Christmas. Your letters were evidence of the "ole school tie." Please write to me again; I do need to hear from you. The nostalgia is a source of great joy. Thank you for this treat.

We extend our sympathy to Catherine Brown Simpson in the loss of her husband.

Dr. Charles George Gordon Moss, our class sponsor, professor and friend, died April 5. Dorothy McGuire Bunch wrote Mrs. Moss to extend sympathy and ask where a memorial gift in his memory could be sent. Mrs. Moss suggested either of two: the L. Francis Griffin Scholarship Fund, Farmville, VA. 23901 or UNICEF. Dr. Moss worked with the late Dr. Griffin during the school integration crises in Prince Edward County. Mrs. Moss' address is: Rt. 1, New Canton, VA. 23123.

"The trip to England and Holland was the best we have had yet," wrote Vernie Blankenship Knight. She and her husband, "Bus" were there in the spring. It was primarily a garden tour, and they saw some of the most beautiful gardens in the world. They visited a friend in southern England, and also visited "Chartwell", the home of Winston Churchill. In Holland they went to the little church where Gari Melchers painted. The flower markets were fantastic, and Vernie said she never dreamed there were so many flowers in the whole world. The Floriade in Amsterdam is held every 10 years, and is to the world of flowers what the World's Fair is to entertainment. At Homecoming, Vernie and Bus attended a party given by the class of 1937. On June 9, they became the proud grandparents of a fourth grandchild, William Blankenship Knight.

Page Whitehead Hladky and her husband, Emil, were in England to visit their son, Stephen, and his family. Stephen, a professor at Cambridge University, will do research in Denver, Colorado, for a year.

Marjorie Dement Britton and husband, Billy, enjoyed a vacation in Europe.

Ruby Lee Norris Norris and "Bill" Wheeler McCallum attended the state Delta Kappa Gamma Convention in Blacksburg. Ruby Lee read her original poetry. She and her husband have moved to her homeplace in Topping, Middlesex County. Vernon has retired, and has a kennel with show dogs. The Northern Neck group from our class recently had a "get together".

"Bill" Wheeler McCallum visited her daughter Ann McCallum Freers '64 in Aspen, Colorado, for almost two months.

Louise Jennings Creamer's granddaughter, Catherine, graduated from high school and is now in college.

In May, Frances Curtis Smith Kapfer was hostess at a luncheon meeting of the Peninsula Chapter at her lovely home in Kingsmill, Williamsburg.

Susie Dickinson Hudson and husband, George, were in Newport News in July to visit her family and to attend the Newport News High School 1932 Class Reunion at the Chamberlin Hotel. Susie showed me pictures of her granddaughter at her Christening wearing a dress Susie's father wore 94 years ago. Catherine Dunbar, Dorothy Teese Lambiotte and her husband, Art, and I were also present. It was our first reunion, and a great success, with 177 people present.

Susie Dickinson Hudson and her husband went on a Caribbean cruise last spring. They went on the Tropicale (Fun Fleet) to Jamaica, Grand Cayman Islands and Cozumel, Mexico. Susie got a prize for being the oldest grandmother with the youngest first grandchild (seven months old)! Both of Susie's sisters, Lucy Dickinson Spencer and Bertha Dickinson Taylor are graduates of MWC.

My family was here for the Christening of my grandson on June 20. He enjoyed it and smiled a lot during the service.

I'm still looking forward to hearing from you.

The 45th Class Reunion as seen through the eyes of Lib Johnson Birtwell:

Early in May letters began arriving in Bradenton from far away places. My telephone rang frequently and there were several pre-registrations at the Alumni House.

These things began to stir up lots of excitement, and of course your coordinator was jubilant about many returning classmates. Some had never been back on campus since graduation.

I arrived in town on Wed., June 2nd. That night Mary Carson '71 had an unexpected visitor for a short get-together. In the course of our conversation Mary offered to prepare flower arrangements for the tables we would be using for our Class Party on Saturday night. My contribution was to be Queen Anne's Lace. Fortunately I had been invited to spend an afternoon and have dinner with friends in Locust Grove. This was truly the ideal place for me to gather the flowers, as they grew so profusely.

Mary's array of cultivated lawn flowers and the wild ones were more meaningful than commercial ones we could have used. They graced our tables and added to the attractive food arrangement prepared by Lucy Pierson Welch and her local Brownie crew. Thanks, Mary Carson for your interest, versatility and for being an adopted '37 Devil!

Dot Ball Eason arrived Friday morning and shortly thereafter came Adel Crowgey Giles. After locating our rooms and unloading our cars, we were finally able to go out for lunch. When we ate, shopped and returned to the dorm we were told that Frances Curtis Kapfer and Clarkie had arrived. We found them in Mason Hall Recreation Room along with many other Devils who were renewing acquaintances.

There was a wine and cheese party in Mason Hall Recreation Room Friday night for all reuniting Devils.

Saturday morning we had breakfast in Mason Hall, and from there we went to the annual alumni meeting held in Dodd Auditorium. After adjournment, Adele went for Mrs. Dodd who was our luncheon guest and who also attended part of our '37 Class meeting.

Our class meeting began at 2 p.m. with about 30 members present. After class pictures were taken, Adele presented Mrs. Dodd with an attractive MWC brass trivet as a token of appreciation for her loyal service to the College as well as having been a true friend to many of us.

Lib J.B. announced that she would no longer serve as Class Agent for MWC Today. Susan Davis '73, vice president for homecoming, explained the need for three class agents as opposed to the previous one agent. The workload is becoming too great for one person to be effective in future planning and growth.

We followed her suggestion and selected the three persons who will be representing you during the next five years:

Class Agent for MWC Today:
Mrs. Evelyn Riggs Ellington
711 Connecticut Ave.
Norfolk, VA. 23508

Class Agent for Annual Fund:
Mrs. Lib Johnson Birtwell
1572 Pleasant Rd. Apt. J27
Bradenton, FL. 33507

Coordinator for 50th Reunion (1987):
Mrs. Lucy Pierson Welch
2301 Cowan Blvd. Apt. 63C
Fredericksburg, VA. 22401

The Recreation Hall in Mason truly portrayed the presence of Devils!! There were pictures, snapshots, signs, posters, daisies—all reminders of events so many years back. Our party was a huge success, and would you believe there were some Goats there too? We really had fun, and when we crawled into bed it was with a feeling of joy and happiness of being together after 45 years.

All in all and despite the inclement weather, there was too much laughter and too many smiling faces to portray anything other than success and joy.

As I left my position as class agent, many of you witnessed my deep emotions, gratitude and appreciation for your loyalty to me and to MWC.

In closing I must say we made a substantial increase in our giving over the previous year. This is an excellent expression of your loyalty to MWC.

Thanks to Bibbie Burton, Susan Davis and the Alumni Staff for making my tasks easier. These people are to be commended as they worked under adverse weather conditions and last minute changes in weekend plans. Lib

(Editor's Note: Many thanks and expressions of appreciation were received on behalf of Lib Johnson Birtwell for her service of the past five years, for planning the best of all 10 reunion class parties for 1982, and for working so diligently to get her classmates back to MWC.)

From Lib:

Thirteen members of Dot Ball Eason's family enjoyed two weeks at the beach in July. They look forward to this gathering each year.

Mrs. C. G. Gordon Moss wrote Lib a nice letter in appreciation for the contributions given in memory of Dr. Moss, and also to convey to his students her deep affection and sincere appreciation for their fond memories of him.

Jac Clark Robertson wrote she had a back injury doing yard work—which knocked out the 45th reunion and a wedding in Ocala, Fla. Bill has played and won several golf tournaments.

Eleanor Sutton Heath, New Bern, N.C., was anticipating knee surgery in Oct.

Frank Nash Young and daughter, Susan, attended the World's Fair during early summer.

Ann Lipscomb was unable to attend the reunion for health reasons. Frances Kirkwood and Selma Piland Johnston filled her in via telephone. The mention of everyone there brought back fond memories.

Elizabeth (Clarkie) Clark had major surgery on May 10th, but was able to make the plane trip from California to the east coast to visit family and attend the reunion.

Lucy Pierson Welsh made a trip to Albany N.Y., to visit family in July, after seven of her grandchildren had visited. Lucy and the girls spent a few days in Williamsburg.

Frances Sherman Spencer and husband, Clarence, had a nice trip in January and February to California, Arizona, and Texas. They have learned modern square dancing and find it fun, good exercise and a way of good fellowship.

From Evelyn: Our thanks to Lib Johnson Birtwell, our class news agent for the past five years, for a fine job, especially in planning our 45th reunion. Please send news to me now. February 1 is the deadline for spring issue of MWC Today. (Winter issue will be special 75th Anniversary issue, with no class news.)

Since our reunion last June, I have been in contact with several of our classmates who were sorry to have to miss our wonderful time together. Ellen White Sterling and husband, Tommy, were on a vacation in Scandanavia. Mary Lou Dennis Butler and family were vacationing in Nags Head, N.C. Louise Cockrell Jones was in Florida to attend high school graduation of her granddaughter. Louise and I see each other at Eastern Star meetings. She is a Past Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Va., O.E.S., and now serving as the Grand Treasurer. Martha Epes Deane had to remain in Nottoway that weekend because of her position as postmistress there. (If you travel near there, just zip by the post office to say hello.)

Lib Johnson Birtwell has spent the summer in Virginia, mostly in Narrows. On August 3rd she underwent an operation of an arthritic knee. With the aid of crutches she was able to get around. Our prayers and best wishes for a complete recovery go out to her. Her plans were to return to her Florida home in September.

I talked by phone frequently with Pauline King in Fredericksburg. She was planning a trip to Austria in September with Dr. and Mrs. Simpson and Barbara Alden, all now retired from MWC. Pauline's mother, Mrs. Viva King, will be 98 in October. They live together on Sunken Road.

I am now retired from Norfolk Schools and seem to stay busy with various activities and travel. I'll be doing the World's Fair in September, and October will find me in Annaheim, Calif., to attend Triennial session of the Order of the Eastern Star. When I'm at home, I enjoy my three young grandsons, all under four years.

Remember to send in news of yourself and family, and keep in touch with members of our class. Our next reunion is our Golden!

News is scarce as hen's teeth. Had a letter from Gayle Bowman Whetzel of Nokesville asking that former classmates get in touch. Antique business and teaching has kept Gayle busy. The recent death of her husband caused reorganization of life and future plans. Gayle can be reached at 12816 Fitzwater Drive, Nokesville, VA. 22123.

Note from Mary Kettenbeck Gademan mentions the possibility of her attendance at former roommate Dot Ballance Skinner's 40th wedding anniversary celebration in Arlington. I had hoped to see both, but left for World's Fair at Knoxville the same week.

Helen Pressley Voris and Calvin spent a week in May in Rochester N.Y. where they attended the graduation exercises for son, Bruce, who received his PhD. from the School of Medicine in that city. Bruce's wife, Wendy Ng, is defending for a similar degree in July. Trip to Knoxville was interesting, a bit technically oriented for my taste. Always enjoy traversing I-81, and camping near Mt. Rogers, and at Hendersonville N.C. Residence at Maryville College while attending fair was also enjoyable.

Flora Ryan Durgin is putting her home-nursing experience to use on husband, Doug, who we hope is back to health after discomfort suffered in the spring.

I see by the latest printout that the most popular address is "Unknown". Please remedy this if you can with a few minutes and a postcard or letter.

Virginia Beach, VA. 23455

From Mary: In a very roundabout way news comes of two "town girl" thirty-niners. At Christmas just past, I had a long letter from Elnora Overley Johnson, still living in Fredericksburg in a house she and Jack renovated on Washington Ave. Elnora has been most active in civic, educational and church affairs, making a tremendous contribution to the community. She finished a history of the Fredericksburg United Methodist Church in 1975, has been on the school board, and on the Board of Trustees of Mary Washington Hospital. She also has served as secretary of the Trustees of the Kenmore Association, a national organization concerned with the preservation and administration of Betty and Fielding Lewis' home. Elnora and Jack have done a lot of traveling, some with dubious memories: a shattered wrist for Elnora at Disney World several years ago and a head-on collision for Jack at Nags Head—no serious injuries. They also spent time in Italy and visited Charlotte Gourley Webb in Corning, N.Y. Jack is retired since 1981 when he and partner sold their business.

This spring at a church reception, I met a beautiful young lady named Mary Forbush from Fredericksburg. When I mentioned having gone to MWC with someone named Forbush who looked just like her, she said that was her aunt. Madora Forbush Brown now lives in Denver, Col., where she is clerk of court. She has been widowed many years. Madora has one son and two grandchildren. The niece, Mary, living here in Roanoke and training to be a dental hygienist, is enough like Madora to be her daughter.

Please write, see how good it is to hear from these people? 'Til next time—

From Henrietta: Janie Crowder Boyd writes that she and Austen have an English granddaughter, born April 1981. This little one, Mary Rebecca, has added a new dimension to the farm in Lincolnshire.

Bernis Whipple Camp has taken two AAA tours. One was to Williamsburg and some of the nearby plantations.

Your class agents urgently need to hear from all of you. Tell us what you did this past summer keeping in mind that the next issue deadline for information to agents is February 1.

Can you help find these "lost" classmates?—

Mrs. Virginia Clapp Ambrose, Mrs. Marion Bruce Barry, Mrs. Eizabeth Evans Berry, Mrs. Charlotte Hall Bolton, Eulalia Bowling, Dorothy Brent, Mary Elizabeth Carson, Emma Weber Carter, Mrs. Ann Covington Cockrell, Mary L. Cowles, Mrs. Evelyn Herring Crum, Mrs. Loree Cuddy, Elizabeth Dinges, Madora Forbush, Ella Mae Frye, Agnes Gale, Estelle Lee Golden, Josephine Gravett, Katherine Haley, Alice Virginia Kilduff, Mabel Layman, Concetta Mangus, Louise McGee, Kitty Meek, Mary Lou Monroe, Gilda E. Oronoz, Armenia Owen, Elsie Perry, Mrs. Elizabeth Shackleford Satterfield, Mrs. Laura Wright Wachsmuth, Rebecca Whitehurst Thomas, Evelyn Wilkinson, Mary Clayton Williams, Margaret Wolf.

Evelyn Williams Bass has been named Knoxville City Teacher of the year. She teaches third and fourth grades at Ridgedale School, Knoxville, Tn. She is just completing her twenty-second year. Her favorite subject is social studies and her hobby, traveling. She has traveled widely throughout the world.

Evelyn's husband, Robert, is a pharmacist. They have two sons, Dr. Jeffrey Bass, Seaford, Virginia, and Michael, a student of electrical engineering at the University of Tennessee.

June Stoll Artunkal and husband, Tahsin, returned to the states from Turkey to attend the graduations of their sons, Ali, from the University of Virginia with a master's in business administration, and Kemal, from Randolph Macon.

Emma Jane Davis McDermott is now in Raleigh, N.C. Emma is Director of the Annual Fund at St. Mary's College. Her husband resigned as Vicar at St. John's, Glasgow, Va., last June and is now licensed as an Episcopal clergyman in the Diocese of North Carolina. He is supplying in churches on a part-time basis.

Their two older children, born when Mr. McDermott was a MWC art professor, are married with families—Lola M. Renfrow family in Raleigh, and Julie M. Imeson family in Lexington, Va. Of the younger children, Robert is a senior at Old Dominion Univerity, majoring in geology; Lucinda is a junior at Virginia Commonwealth University, majoring in drama.

From Fran: Sorry to have missed the last deadline; thus belated news. From Hawaii a card from Mary Wallace Farr saying she and her husband "are missionary volunteers at the First Baptist Church of Pearl Harbor". They have been adopted as grandparents by a young couple and spent Thanksgiving and Christmas 1981 with them. Mary Wallace is planning to be here for our 40th in '83!

Ruth Ferguson (Fergie) McClung and family are living in Va. Beach, where her husband hopes to get a new sanctuary started in '82. She substitutes in the schools.

Peg Moran Logan and Dick are still working and happy: daughter Roz and family are in Irving, Texas; son Frank and family in San Jose; son Allen and family in Ontario; son Tom and wife at Langley AFB; son John, student, Cal. St., Long Beach; son Fred, graduate Air Force Academy (June '82); son Greg, electronic technician, Hughes Aircraft; daughter Bede—high school student. In 1980 there was a Moran Family Reunion at Colorado Springs with a family banquet at the Air Force Academy Officer's Club.

Nancy Inglis Russo and Mike have a son in Rhode Island, and their daughter and family (including a 2-year-old granddaughter) are back in Fredericksburg.

We have "found" Peggy Draper Eckenrode—in, of all places, Oaklands Park, South Australia. Dorothy Brown Peterson wrote that Peggy and Bernard were in the States Oct. '81-Jan. '82. They had visited the Petersons in Falls Church on their return from a 28-day-tour of Europe. Stops were made in Pa., Boykins (Va.), Florida, San Francisco, and Hawaii.

Our 40th reunion will be May 20-26, 1983. Make your plans now. When they arrive, PLEASE return your Reunion Questionnaires PROMPTLY—so that you can be included in the Reunion Booklet News!

From Dorabelle: Mamie Stahle married Lt. Col. Leroy Allen in Sept. '80 and lives in Newport News. Her son, James Craig Via, was married in May, '82 and lives in Dallas, Texas.

Bertha Dickinson Taylor's son, Brian, was married July 1 in Arkansas.

With the arrival of spring came Bertha McPhail Johnson and her husband for a music conference in Northern Virginia. Nettie Evans Lawery, Emmy Lou Kilby, Katherine Tompkins Brumble, "Doodie", and I got together with "Mac" for lunch and covered 38 years of activity in four hours. All have promised to return in '84 for our 40th reunion. Bobbie Kingston Disney and husband were in Baltimore in June for the World Lacross Games.

Bobbie and I spent two days with Nancy Duval Andrews at her summer home on the Rappahannock. Started on plans for reunion. Congrats to Nancy on her new grandson.

Joyce Hovey Madigan retired in May and is now enjoying her five grandsons. Heard from Jo Potts Coleman who is thoroughly enjoying retirement after 37 years with DuPont.

Belva Dunn Jones and Marguerite Klenck Lovejoy both lost their husbands last winter. Our deepest sympathy to their families. That's all the news for now. I'm off to the shore for the summer—see you soon.

There is an old saying—"No news is good news!" I guess everyone has good news, since I have received no news. If you have any kind of news, please send it to me or to the Alumni office. You will be getting a letter from me. Jot down a few words this next year and send them on. If you drive through Newport News or the Tidewater area, give me a call. We can sit on the patio and munch cookies, (or carrot sticks if you're on a diet!).

This is your column! Don't let it be blank this year.

Rite Marshall Smith, a licensed real estate broker, and her husband, William Astor, a food service manager, are proud parents of three football-playing sons, two of whom have gone to college on full football scholarships: Tory, a graduate of Virginia Tech, is an industrial salesman in Charlottesville; Preston, formerly a student at the University of Richmond, now with Vepco, will be married May 22, and Kim Allen, 17, recently won first place in a bake-off.

Virginia Schier Drury and her husband, Fred, will be returning to their home in Walnut Creek, California, in December 1982, after 3½ years' residence in Manila, Philippines. All together, Ginny has lived in the Far East 17½ years.

Was so pleased to hear from a few "new" people this spring. A lovely letter from Rosemary Miller in Benzonia, Michigan, informed me that she is semi-retired from teaching. She is taking private music students and is working part-time as church secretary. She also directs one of the church youth choirs and is playing a small, local orchestra. She is thinking ahead to 1985, hoping to join us for our next reunion!

Barbara Huber Bohmann in Lancaster, Pa., filled me in on her family doings. Daughter, Jill, 22 in July, graduated from Allegheny College with a major in biology. She is interested in being a vet., but had not heard as to her vet. school acceptance at the time of Barb's letter. Two years ago she joined an Earthwatch team doing research on spotted hyenas in Kenya, and last year did a three-week stint at Gerald Durrell's Wildlife Preservation Zoo on the Isle of Jersey. Jane, 20, spent her last year of high school at the American School in Zurich, Switzerland, living with her father who has rented a villa in France, not far from Bordeaux. Last summer Barbara and Paul traveled across country stopping along the way to visit friends. Barbara is involved in Welcome Wagon, volunteers at the local nursing home and teaches a bridge class.

Heard from Marcy Weatherly Morris—she and Juney are well and pleased to have daughter, Ellen, and family as neighbors. The three grandchildren are growing—ages, 7, 4 and 2. Ellen is a substitute teacher at the dependent's school at Dahlgren, and Gary has an insurance agency in King George. Son Tip and his wife have bought a house in Williamsburg, and both work at William and Mary. He is in the Office of Fiscal Affairs and Lauri in the Communications Office. Marcy is still working with the church choir.

Nat Wilton is in Seattle, Wash. helping care for her parents. She had been living in Oregon part of the year, spending winters in Williamsburg.

Had the pleasure of attending the wedding of Mim Sallows Wieland's son, Tom, in March. It was great to see all of her family—son, Jeff, was in the wedding party and daughter, Barby, was there with year-old Becky. They will be located at West Chester State College, Pa., in the fall involved with campus crusade work.

Was sorry to hear about the death of Rolin Coffman Willson in early February after a long illness. Was so pleased that she was able to attend our reunion in 1980 renewing her old friendships.

Our sympathy goes to Charlotte Leonard Wilder, who lost her mother in January.

Time for all the latest news, Class of '51. First, we'll open the mail and see what surprises await us. Ah ha! Our first letter comes from Irene Kessler Kuritzky. Irene caught one of my columns in which I said June Weledniger Leers was among the missing. No wonder. Leers is not her correct name. It is Lacks, according to Irene.

Writes Irene: "June Weledniger Lacks is in the Santa Barbara area in California. We used to keep in touch, but I have only heard about her recently from a friend in Larchmont, N.Y. . . . ."

Thanks for the tip, Irene. I have two reasons to remember June Welednigher Lacks. She was one of my off-campus freshman roommates, and she was the first to introduce me to her hometown, New York City! What a thrill.

And now for our next letter. This one is from Edie Wagner Kleinpeter who calls Hiawasse, Georgia, home. Edie wonders how in the world did I know where she lived and what she had been doing.

Edie, any class agent worth his or her salt has sources scattered throughout the world. Eventually my sources and I will catch up with all the class of '51, so be prepared girls. You might as well start writing and give me the news they way you want it told!

Anyway, here are some words as written by Edie: "I see Bobby Rush Engelke and Juanita Pike Cater from time to time. They both live in Palm Beach (Fla.), still married and have five children between them. I have four children, one of whom just graduated from Mary Washington this May . . ."

Edie also wrote that she was about to become a grandmother, thanks to daughter, Gretchen, in Tucson, Arizona.

Then there is a nice note from Virginia Poole Kinnibaugh '53 who recently stepped down as Alumni Vice President for Classes. She wrote: ". . . Even if there is no news from classmates, a "hello" from you in your '51 space is effective . . ." With as many graduates as we had in '51, I'm counting on more than just saying "hello." They'll all be coming forward, Ginny. I'm sure of it.

Now you'll never guess who called me yesterday all the way from Angola, Indiana! Ruth DeMiller Hill. Ruth has been promising me news for two years, and here is what Ruth reported by telephone:

Her daughter, Ruth Alice married Patrick Shawn Smith on June 19, and now they are sharing a love nest in Wethersfield, Conn. Ruth called Barbara (Bobbie) Kelley in Lynchburg, but, according to Ruth, Bobbie had little to say other than she was still living in Lynchburg.

That's all for now. To all members of the Class of '51: You know my address.

Was it really 30 years ago that we left MWC? You'd never have guessed it by looking at the 28 gals who came to reunion in June. Very few pounds and some gray hair were scattered around, but on the whole WE LOOK TERRIFIC! Ann Gaines Louisell was acting class agent and put on a very nice wine and cheese party after the class meeting on Saturday. Class officers were chosen for the next five years:

President—Doris "Pinky" Steele Lequin; Treasurer—Charlotte Adams Harrell; Agent—Claire Sindlinger de Groot. Between Friday and Saturday the following classmates were on campus: Mary Jones Beard, Claire Sims Braun, Mary Ribble Cranwell, Nancy Parker Crocker, Mildred Foley Crouch, Gwen Amory Cumming, Claire Sindlinger de Groot, Margaret Green, Marie Attianese Harlow, Carol Oliver Headlee, Jean Amis Hill, Susan Hutcheson Jurgens, Suzanne Branner Kessler, Doris Steele Lequin, Ann Gaines Louisell, Nancy Stump Motley, Elaine Nader Powell, Dorothy Maynard Power, Nancy Moxley Stone, Carol Edgerton Cooper, Elizabeth Bennington Smith, Janet Heilmann Meador, Edith "Sissy" Davis Fletcher, Dorothy Davis Craig, Peggy Sherman Cooper, and Rita Morgan Stone.

Class of 1952

Friday night we discovered that a new touch had been added. The local alumni had planned a dance—with Mr. Houston, on piano, no less—at Lee Hall (over the old indoor swimming pool). He even played "Jenny".

Carol Edgerton Cooper was up from Camp Lejeune and is expecting to move to Washington, D.C. this summer. Ann Gaines Louisell put on a lovely wedding in January for her daughter, Beth. She then turned around and gave aid and comfort to roommate Claire Sindlinger de Groot, whose daughter, Dana, was married in April. Dana is MWC Class of 1977. Claire's husband, Ward, retired from the Navy (Civil Engineer Corps) in 1978 and is with the Navy Federal Credit Union in Vienna, Va. Their oldest daughter, Robin, is delving into the travel agency business. Son, Doug, is a tennis pro in Southampton, N.Y., this summer, and youngest daughter, Gretchen, took her spring semester in France. Claire and Ward are flying to Paris in June to meet her and after another 10 days in England will bring her home.

From Anne Beck MacFarlane '52—a report on her children: John 27 is a Hampden–Sydney graduate (76) and a Baker Scholar. He received his MBA at U. Va., and is now Vice President of Saloman Bros., in N.Y. Charles, 26, is a Duke (77) graduate, magna cum laude, with an MBA from U. Va., also. He is a real estate developer with Tramill Crow Co. in Charlotte, N.C. Mary Banks is 21 and a senior at Clemson.

From Betty Jo Woodford Bates: Son, Bruce, received his M.S. in Civil Engineering from Va. Tech and is now with Fluor Constructors in Irvine, Cal.; daughter, Jan, received her M.A. from U. N.C. Chapel Hill; son, Larry, is a landscape architect in Warrenton. BJ and Morin are still in Culpeper, where he owns a farm supply store and she is chairman of the art department and teaches at Culpeper Jr. H.S.

Do remember that if you want news in the magazine you have to send it to me! I'm looking forward to hearing from lots of you!!

My work at the National Gallery of Art has me happy as a clam. As staff for special exhibitions it's like being at the crossroads of the world. Among some long-lost friends of other times and places, I 've seen Ginny Poole Kinniburgh and Dean Alvey.

Janet Galloway Carter has written that she and Dave will have a summer of "drive and visit"—from Alabama to the East Coast up to Maine, looping through Canada down to Kentucky, and then home. Maybe when she recuperates, around December, she'll send up a report. One classmate she will have seen is Adele Crise Thomas and Buz in Statesboro, GA. The Thomases' first daughter was married in May.

Let us know of your summer reunions.

Congratulations go from all of us to Dr. Kathryn Garland Obenshain '53, who received the 1982 Distinguished Alumnus Award at MWC during Homecoming.

From Diane: The following news from our Richmond correspondent, Marie-Louise Rosanelli Metzger (Red), has reached my desk, and I pass it along to you.

Red says she had a long chat with Patricia Dent Baynes (Pat), who works for the Richmond Public Library System and has three children, the oldest of whom is a student at VCU. Pat had news of Meg White Fary, who lives in Greensboro, N.C., where she works for a television station. She visited Pat with her daughter, Margie. Sally Ann Jackson Doyle's husband is a minister, and they live with their son in Auburn, Ala. Carolyn Burgdorff, who attended MWC freshman year, is living and selling real estate in Daytona Beach, Fla., with her son and daughter.

Nearer to her home, "Red" also says that D'Arcy Hahn Holt lives in Richmond with her husband, Bernard, who is a vice pres. with Universal Tobacco Leaf Co. They have three grown sons, and D'Arcy should be a grandmother by the time you read this. . . .Margaret Kirson Weinberg (Meg)'s husband has his own pharmacy, and Josephine McPherson Heslep helps with the books at her husband's construction company. They have two sons, one a student at Bluefield College, the other a lacrosse player at VMI.

Red's second daughter, Donna, has joined sophomore sister, Alison, at MWC. Her son, Joe, was a summer intern on Capitol Hill in Washington, D.C. You may have seen a full-page, pictoral story on Red and her Christmas decorations and beautiful home in one of the Richmond papers last December!

I spoke to Martha Anne Eagle France, of Manassas, Va. Her husband, Joe, a VPI graduate, is an engineer. They have three children: Susan, a recent law school grad and a spring bride: Leanne, just finished her nursing degree from UVA (in the same class as my neice, Christy Gustafson), and John, 13.

Constance Crigler (Connie) is a commercial investment real estate analyst. She buys, renovates and rents homes in Old Towne, Alexandria, Va. She also represents the Development Corp. of Florida, one of the largest in the state. Connie says she has taken many courses over the years in her field of interest.

Patricia Hubbard Johnson (Patsy) says she can always tell that it is someone calling from her school days when they ask for "Patsy"—I guess she's a big girl now and that's okay if she wants to be called "Pat"! She and her husband celebrated their 25th anniversary in June. He is a '57 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, now retired and working for himself as a consulting engineer. Pat has taught school off and on over the years, but is teaching no longer. They have two children, a girl who has completed business school and a boy, a recent grad of Dickenson in Carlisle, Pa. She said that she and Nancy Hanna Stone are in touch and ALMOST came to our 25th reunion. Maybe we can convince them to get to Fredericksburg for the 30th?

The following of your classmates communicated with me via pen and paper. Patricia Barnes Kellum (Pat) writes that she and her husband have been married 26 years, the last 12 in Camp Hill, Pa. Their married daughter, Kim, lives nearby. They enjoy golfing and going to the beach. She gave me Emilie Carlin Swartz's El Paso, Texas, address (and I promptly fired off a letter to her—so I hope to have lots of her news next issue!). Pat says that she and Emilie have been searching for a "missing" roommate for years, Neida Iris Lopes. Anyone having any information, please send to me and I will forward. Pat also relates that Alice Huff and her daughter traveled to Europe this past summer.

Barbara Kowalzyk Heppe, vacationing for the summer in Maine, sent word that she and her husband, Price, had hosted Barbara Strangmann Hiscock and her husband, Bill, for a weekend in Philadelphia. Michelle Foley McDaniel (Mickey) has been my #1 moral booster since beginning this column! She and her husband celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with a trip to Peru! She says Marietta, Ga., is only two hours away from Clemson, S.C., where our #1 son, Matt, is now enrolled in the School of Engineering—so we may try to get together in the next four years.

Ann Mitchell Wood and her husband, Ted, married off the first of their gang on Sept. 4 (Ted, Jr.). Ann is working part-time, and putting in lots of miles between No. Va. and Colorado, to visit with her parents, attend high school reunions and weddings.

Many of our classmates have not kept in touch with the Alumni Office, therefore we must be our own detectives. Somewhere out there each of these former students once had roommates who know where they are. Some of these like myself, attended maybe only one year, or two. I, for one, would love to know where and how they are doing—so won't you please write to me if you have a married name (where applicable) and the most current address, plus any news. See if some of these names don't bring back memories? Ann Elizabeth Coiner, Betty Ann Davis, Marian Cutchin Hines, Jane Anne Greene, Docas Ann (DA) Hiekox Channell, Dixie Moore Anderson, Mary Landon Noland Adams, Audrey Blair Smith, Claudette Marie Stacey, Elizabeth Roundtree Duke (Boo).

Thanks so much to you who sent nice words about our efforts for the Class of '56. Flattery will get you everywhere—so keep those notes, letters and phone calls coming (301-762-0295). If anyone knows what happened to Corky, please tell her I am trying to get in touch with her—since July '81! Meanwhile, by the time you read this I'll be at Hood, fulltime, our daughter will have begun law school at Catholic Univ., Matt's beginning Clemson and Fletch is sending in college applications, as he is now a senior in high school. Ted is hoping I finish quick and get the work!

Mrs. Elaine Downing Hawpe

Lansdowne, PA. 19050

We were saddened to learn of the death of one of our classmates, Margaret Mahon. Her father wrote to the Alumni Office indicating her death in the fall of '81. No details were given. I have written to him to express the sympathy of us all.

Barbara Price Edsall called me immediately after receiving her MWC Today issue which listed Margy's name under "Deceased". Barbara and Margy had been good friends and had roomed together in Philadelphia after graduation. We commiserated together about the loss of a classmate. We then talked for two hours (!) and I found that she lives relatively near me in Perkiomenville, Pa. Her husband, Robert, is an engineer consultant for General Electric in Philadelphia. They have two children of their own: Robert, 20, and Thomas, 18. Through the years they have adopted six more children: Peter, 15, Steven, 15, Jennifer, 13, Andrew, 13, Rebecca, 11, and David, 7. David is the newest addition, as he just joined their family in July '82. Three children are from Korea and one child is from Viet Nam. Barbara said she became interested in cross cultural adoptions after reading The Family Nobody Wanted by Helen Doss. Barbara and Robert are the type of people who have a lot of love to give and respond where love is needed most.

Bernice Bramson Gilfillan wrote a chatty letter to me from South Africa. Her husband, Robin, and she were planning a trip to the USA in Sept. or Oct. of '82 with some friends. They plan to visit their son, Berin, who is a senior at the U. of Michigan. They hope to return with their children in Dec. '82 to spend a family Christmas in Washington, D.C., where Bernice has three brothers. Bernice has been corresponding with Kay Martin Britto, Anne de Porry McGrath and Dr. James Croushore for many years, and she hopes to see them when she comes to the USA. Louise Miller Goudemond lives in Johannesburg, South Africa and is teaching art at St. Martin's School there. Bernice and she phone each other often and exchange news.

Carrie Lee Briscoe Dugger has a real estate license, is selling real estate and teaching school, too, in Blacksburg.

Edris Grizzard Lucas and family built a new home in Waynesboro, where Edris also sells real estate.

Ebie Breeden McKnight completed work for her master's degree in public administration in May '82. She is living in Kentucky, and she writes that she plans to return to Virginia when her youngest child finishes high school in '85.

Jean Lee Anderson Chapman is teaching home ec. in Richmond, Her daughter, Susan, graduated from high school in '82. Nancy is in the tenth grade and May is in the seventh grade. Rodney is still a prosecuting attorney for Henrico County. Jean Lee wrote that Judy Totty Dean was in Richmond in October '82 and that Pete and she are still in Colorado. Pete has retired from the Air Force and is working in Denver. Jean Lee's MWC roommate, Phyliss Spracher Murray, teaches science at the same high school, Douglas Freeman High School, where Jean Lee teaches. Peggy Saunders Burroughs works in the office at Freeman. (The three of them can have a mini-reunion each day!) Peggy's son, Kirmit, is a sophomore at the U. of South Carolina. Anne Belt Norris and Jean Lee attended a Richmond Chapter Alumni luncheon together.

This past summer I made a trip to New Knoxville, Ohio for a Rock of Ages get-to-gether to learn the accuracy of God's Word from teachers of the Biblical Research and Teaching Ministry. On my way out to Ohio and on the return trip, I visited with Celeste Dixon Steffen and her family in Pittsburgh, Pa. I had a very good time with Celeste and her family who had visited me a few times when I lived in Delaware. Celeste and I had worked on Cape Cod during the summer following our junior year. It is always enjoyable to reminisce about MWC days and our summer on Cape Cod. Celeste's husband, Bill, has a home improvement business of his own. She works as a medical technologist at Jefferson Hospital. In April '82 Celeste and her daughter, Gretchen, took a two week trip to Arizona to see the Grand Canyon. Both fell in love with Arizona. Gretchen hopes to re-turn to Arizona next summer to work on the dude ranch where they stayed. Betsy, 16, is in the eleventh grade.

In 1980 I began making plans for a new direction in my life when my youngest child graduated from high school. Having taught school for 18 years, I felt ready to begin something new. The mid-life crisis hit full force! I applied to and was accepted at the U. of Pa. Graduate School of Education in Philadelphia in the counseling psychology program. The summer of '81 I moved to Lansdowne, Pa., and began a new life for myself. For the past year I have had a very interesting experience returning to school full-time to work on a master's degree. Most of my classmates were much younger than me, but I found the whole experience challenging, invigorating and just what I needed. This past summer I completed all requirements for my master of science in education degree which I should receive in Oct. '82. I have a new career in business which I am thrilled about. I begin Aug. 29, '82 and will write more about it in the next issue. I am a marketing trainee for American Future Systems, Inc., located in Bryn Mawr, Pa.

My son, Greg, 20, recently joined the Navy and is stationed in Pensacola, Florida. My daughter, Ann, 18, is a sophomore and a business major at the U. of Delaware.

Mary Townsend Bates is working as a computer specialist at Headquarters Marine Corps for the Installations and Logistics Division in Rosslyn, Va. She is enrolled at GW University as a graduate student in Telecommunication operations.

Our 25th reunion will be coming up this spring. Please plan to attend. It should be great fun!

Mrs. Edna G. Trudeau
Rt. 1, Box 139F
New Kent, VA. 23124

Hello! Started the year off right with a lovely note from Judy Gunn Shoup. She brought me up to date on her family. Her daughter, Martha, graduated from the Univ. of Md. in '80 and is now attending graduate school at the Univ. of Mont. Her son, Kenneth, is attending George Mason Univ. Judy returned to school in '76 and received a nursing degree. She works part-time in the O.R. at a local hospital. Bob works for G.W. Univ. She updated the whereabouts of Marcie Painter Mears. Marcie and family are in Colorado now. Judy also attended the wedding of Nancy Beardslee Whitehead's daughter in Atlanta last spring.

Mary Carolyn Jamison Gwinn wrote her family had a very wonderful Christmas holiday with her mother and Burt's parents. Cathy is doing fine in school and has added clarinet and cheerleading to the 4-H Club, piano and church choir. Mary Carolyn continues to teach, and Burt's business keeps him on the run.

Our traveler, Irene Piscopo Rodgers, posted a card from London, on the way to a two week stay in Malta. In the 1st quarter of the year she had already been in Col., N.C., Cal. She worked on the MWC Scholarship Committee again this spring, a project she really enjoys. Irene wrote that Anne Watkins Steves' son, Bruce, was to be married this summer. Irene's summer plans included D.C.

Sad news from "Pug" Shipman Kaufman—she lost her father in Feb. of a massive heart attack. Her mother has decided to continue to live in Atlanta. Alan gave Pug a trip to Russia for her Christmas present. She was there 16 days. She found the Russians to be friendly to tourists, but she wrote there are little or no consumer goods and lines for everything. She's hoping for a trip to China in Sept. '83. Jeff plans to return to LSU, but Julie is changing to Auburn Univ. Tammie will enter 8th grade this year. Pug and Alan have purchased a two bedroom condo, on Paradise Island in Nassau overlooking ocean and pool. They are willing to rent. (Do I get a free trip for this friendly ad? Hope, hope!)

Julia Coates Littlefield had a 13-yr.-reunion with Shirley Maudlin Gibson and her two sons. They were coming through Lexington on the way to N.Y. to put Jamie on a plane to Norway for the summer and Matthew on a plane to Alaska for a visit. Gee! They're starting earlier each year! Julia wrote that Shirley looked super! Bess made her decision and will enter Wm. & Mary this fall. She worked this summer at Busch Gardens. Scott finished 8th grade and earned membership in the Nat. Jr. Honor Society; however, his first love is sports. Nathalie, their Belgian boarder, remained this summer to take two senior courses to earn an American diploma, but will be returning to Brussels. It was a rewarding and learning experience to have her. Julia worked with Margie Crismas Kostel on the MWC Scholarship Committee again this summer.

Jane Howard Buchanon spent two great weeks in England in early summer. She and family have spent the remainder preparing to move to N.Y. in late summer because Peter is now Vice-Pres. for Development and Alumni Affairs at Columbia Univ.

From Greece. Ann Brooks Papadatos' annual news. She, Nick and Anastasia took the trip this summer with Gregory remaining in N.Y. to work in his father's restaurant. Ann's family (her parents and five children) were together for the first time in 15 years for her youngest brother's commissioning as an Ensign at Lakehurst Naval Base in May. Gregory is considering changing his major and Anastasia will be a senior this fall.

So glad to hear from all of you; without your letters there would be no news to make it easy for me. With only three more rooms to unbox, I am trying to catch up on my correspondence. Please forgive my laxness. I do believe I have become middle-aged!

From Lynn: Several alumni recently commented that I was a difficult person to catch up with, and they were curious about what I was doing. Be assured that while I stay on the go (permissible only after one passes 40!), I do come home to roost about 11 p.m. Monday-Thursday.

For specifics. I swim all the time and I love working in the garden, shared with Ebie Breeden McKnight '58. I'm a survivalist at heart and ascribe to Howard Ruff's philosophy though I've yet to complete the food storage plan or buy my honda! I'm a sucker for People, Newsweek, Changing Times and Southern Living. My one book for summer reading was Ivor Noel Hume's Martin's Hundred. I'm no longer a frustrated armchair archaeologist. I've sifted every inch of this 20,000 acre 1619 Va. settlement on the James river.

I'm still adventuresome as ever. You're just as likely to find me prowling in zoos as you will taking a dare to ride the mechanical horse at your local shopping center. This fall, I plan to pan for gold! Boston and the Tidewater area of Va. were on the vacation schedule this summer. I've been a misplaced social worker in the employment service field since 6/81 and am now a self-proclaimed expert on "everything you wanted to know about the job market but were afraid to ask"!!

Ma Bell's advice . . . or was it "ET's? . . . to reach out and touch someone yielded lots of fun and laughter with Linda Lange Senf and "Pepper" Jacobs Germer. Linda, Tom and two boys live in San Rafael, across the bay from San Francisco. Young Tom, 17, and 6'1", is No. 1 in his class, made super SAT scores and plays varsity baseball. Robby, 12, is on an all-state baseball team. Linda and Tom travel, particularly to national conventions, and they do come east . . . trips to the Greenbriar and Williamsburg (where Tom's mother is a tour guide). Linda was in Vancouver the week before we connected. We left few stones unturned . . . talked about Mrs. Martin Mitchell's Battlefield Park and our 20th reunion.

"Pepper", Hank, Alicia, 16, and Richard 13, are in Jonesboro, Arkansas, a community of about 35,000 nestled in the NE part of the state. "Pepper" loves her job as account executive with KFIN-FM country radio where she's been for about two years. Hank's still with DuPont, loves Bluegrass and has gotten into banjo.

A long lost classmate has surfaced . . . Jane Morrison Gliserman. Jane transferred to and graduated from the University of Massachusetts, and taught 6th grade for 12 years. She and husband, Saul, live in Northampton where Saul is an attorney.

From Clara: Since the publication of the last news, I have received mail from three of you who have never written to me before. It makes me happy to know that you really do read the class news.

One of my letters was from Renee Levinson Laurents. She loves her fascinating job as Deputy City Attorney for Los Angeles. Her home address is 1147 N. Clark St., West Hollywood, Calif. 90069. She invites you to contact her.

Lee Chilton Payne wrote to ask the whereabouts of Sue Howard Blont and Anne Jenkins Bird. The last address I had for Anne was Darnestown, Md., but I had no listing for Sue. Does anyone know where we can find her?

I received some very sad news from Leah Elliott Carter '62 who realized after reading the last news that I was unaware of the tragedy that had struck Judith Virginia Bressler. As a result of an auto accident in Dec., 1980, Judith is comatose and not expected to recover. If you wish to send a card to Judith's mother, please send it to Mrs. Otto Bressler, 2324 Jefferson St., Bluefield, W. Va. 24701.

Constance Booth Logothetis never slows down. During spring break her family went skiing in Stowe, Vt. Her husband, Andy, coached soccer, Mike played baseball, Elaine rode horseback and played lacrosse, and Connie and Andy played tennis. At this writing the whole family is on a trip to the west coast. While there they plan to see Connie's sister Barbara Booth Wilhelm '63 and her brother, Bobby, as well as Eleanor Jane Riles Wamsley.

When I was in Columbia, S.C., for Christmas, I saw Denby Singley Powe.

My family spends most of its spare time playing golf. Two of my sons are working at the course. My sons, Chris and Park, played on the golf team at Langley High School. Our country club awarded Park a scholarship to the PGA Golf Academy in Boca Raton, Fla. He has also qualified to play in a couple of junior golf tournaments this summer. While Park was in Fla., Chris was with our church youth group attending a work camp in Tenn.

What a delight to share the news of our 20th reunion with you all! Along with seeing old friends (who didn't appear old at all) and catching up on the doings of 40+ of our classmates, I came away as your new class agent. As long as you send in your news to me, you will see it in this column . . . let's keep it full these next five years! And, in order to plan a smashingly successful 25th reunion, we had a superb committee volunteer: Kakki Perry Aydlotte, Class President and Chairman; Myrtle Lee Dean France, Co-chairman; Julie Shumaker Bailess, Treasurer; Sue Grandy Gibson, Bonnie Platt Larson; Committee Members. The committee will be most interested in hearing any ideas you have that will make our next reunion a terrific one!

As for our 20th, Louise Dunn Nelson deserves an enormous THANK YOU! After coming all the way from Tampa, Fla., she arranged wine and cheese for us during our meetings, taking over for Maggie Walker MacAllister, who had to cancel due to a last minute problem, but not before she made sure we were taken care of.

Many attending wrote very nice notes to friends they missed, but neglected to write about themselves, much to our dismay! Won't you write in some information about yourselves that we can include in our article next issue? Here we go with our reunion news: Liz Ann Kennedy Thomas, Marsha Arlott Wooster, Betsy Williams Brothers and Linda Puckett Howell made it, (after a BIG night in Richmond Friday at Liz's house). They saw Melinda Shepardson and Shep, Kathy Stevens, and Kay Hunter and Jim. The husbands had a ball. All send greetings to Susie Desmond Stover and Marilyn Atkinson Kovact.

Judith Bernstein Pressman lives in Chattanooga, Tenn, with husband, Irvin, and two children, Scott, 18, and Pam, 16. Scott will be entering the University of Richmond in the fall. Pam is a junior in high school. Irvin is assistant V.P. of Merril, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith.

Rebecca Cross Salzinger lives in Arlington with husband, Hans, and 16-month-old son, Andrew. She has been teaching 7th and 8th graders math in Fairfax since 1962.

Jenny Manitzuranis Constantinou lives in Silver Spring, Maryland, with husband, Tim, a CPA, and two children, daughter, 13, and son, 10. She is a reading specialist with PG County schools.

Rebecca Blevins Faery lives in Roanoke and teaches writing at Hollins College. Though she left MWC in 1960 to get married, she returned in 1974 and finished her degree in English. She is now divorced and spends all her time being superwoman: managing a career, two children (Annmarie, 17 and Rick, 16); a house with a large yard, garden and the best view of the mountains in all of Virginia; and assorted dogs, cats and friends. After having lived in nine states and Europe during her past 20 years, she's suspecting she's settled at last.

Garnette Lewis Doggett has a daughter, Annette, in her first year of computer science.

"Lisa" (Lois) Adams Albouy is married to Yves Albouy, a French electrical engineer. She did her master's degree in Paris, taught French one year in Teheran, Iran, and since then, has lived in Mexico City and Paris. The family returned to the U.S. in July of 1980 and lives in McLean, Va. She has two children, Sandrino, 10, and David, 4. Lisa is teaching French privately.

Gayle Barratt Law, who attended MWC for only one year, but has friends from our Alma Mater who have lasted a lifetime (think we can all echo her feelings), came. She is married to a Lt. Col. in the Air Force, and has two children. She has been pursuing the commercial art field in fashion illustration.

Marilyne Schulman Rafal lives in Virginia Beach with husband, Ed Jay, an attorney, and two children. Dana, 18, is a freshman at the University of Hartford, and Adam, 13, is a 7th grade student at Norfolk Academy. Gayle works part-time at The Custom Cake Shoppe and is on the board of the Norfolk SPCA.

Carolyn Curtis Driggs lives in Chesapeake, Va., with husband, Bobby, and daughters Laura, 18, and Terri, 13. Laura attends Radford. Carolyn is a school librarian at a junior high school and is writing her master's thesis to complete requirements for her MS in Library Science from UNC!

Susy Booth Thurber, who came from her home in Alabama, saw Sue Lukehart Hallden last spring. Sue is a "preppy" interior decorator. Susy is president of her local needlework guild and is looking forward to a trip to Europe soon.

Judy Wolfe Allen and Susanna Palmer Hill traveled the farthest for our reunion! Judy came from La Jolla, California, and Susanna, from Tulsa, Oklahoma. Judy's husband, Jack, is a pilot for PSA, and her two children are Lisa, 10, and Allison, 6. Judy has done some fascinating travel, including a visit to Russia, and is involved in volunteer work as school librarian (just finished packing 5,000 books), Camp Fire Camping Chairman, and Children's Home Society. Susanna is the public relations coordinator for a women's resource center, and has a 9½ year old son.

Katie Hunter Wittenburg has enjoyed living abroad for 10 years (7 in Israel and 3 in Italy), but is happy being back in Arlington, Virginia, with her husband, David, and son Jonathan, 5. Their address is 1409 S. Thomas St., 22204.

Pauline Womack Spencer came from Cary, N.C. Her husband, Bill, is with IBM. They have two children: Alice, 17, a rising high school senior, and Anne, 13, a rising ninth grader. The Spencers live at 929 Ralph Dr. in Cary.

Mary Coleman Hawkins Arnold sent hellos to Sally Dunn Van Metre. Mary Gilliss Garwood, who lives in Annandale with Grif and their three adorable children, sends greetings to Pat Mackey Taylor.

Sue Skelton Tumlinson enjoyed seeing MWC again after such a long time. She sends greetings to Deanne Lohrman McNeil.

Ann Tench Huml, husband, Jerry, and their 11-year-old son are moving from Berlin to Norfolk this summer. Their two daughters are in college already!

Deni Miner Mayer lives in Fernnandina Beach, Florida, with her Navy husband and two lovely children. She is on the advisory board of one of the elementary schools.

Kakki Perry Aydlotte felt our 20th was made even more special for her because her mother was celebrating her 50th! Her address will be included in a future article so you can send her your ideas for our 25th.

Myrtle Lee Dean France has been a mathemetician at the Naval Surface Weapons Center for 20 years. She has two daughters, Rebecca, 16, and Mary Scott, 12. She and her husband celebrated their 20th anniversary this July!

Bonnie Platt Larson lives in Portsmouth, Va., at Frederick Military Academy. She has two daughters, Marni, 15, and Sandi, 13. She is working as secretary to the Tidewater Community College Coordinator at the Apprentice School of the Norfolk Naval Shipyard. She is on her church council, active with several organizations involving her children, and is a member of the Portsmouth Service League.

As for me, Sandy McGregor Craig, we have been in Virginia Beach for three lovely years, and will be here awhile more. Kenny is a Capt. in the Navy, Analise, 17, will be a senior at First Colonial High School, and Kenny Mc, 13, is going into 8th grade at Lynnhaven. I've just survived a baseball season as team mother (like many of you, I'm sure), work part time for a management consultant firm, am on the board of the Children's Camp Fund, and am active in the PTA's at both schools. I am also eager to hear your news. Ny next deadline is Feb. 1. Perhaps some of you will have additions and/or corrections to this article. . . . they would be welcomed!! Keep the news coming in!!!

P.S. As of June 1, 1982, the Class of 1962, with a total contribution to the MWC Foundation of $3,521, exceeded all other reunion classes! Congratulations!

I had a surprise phone call from Sue Walbridge Davies a few months ago. Sue and her two children are living in Marlton, N.J. Sue is enjoying her new and successful career as a sales consultant with Executive Search in Phila. She sees Nancy Gibbs occasionally. Nancy is teaching in Alexandria. She would like addresses for Pam Brooks Wiseman and Sue LeFever. Can anyone help?

We are missing addresses for about one-third of our classmates—if you correspond with anyone from '63, please send me their address. They may be some of the ones we are missing. Thanks.

A note from Fran Ryan Myers—Charley is still in the Army and they were due for a move to D.C. in June. Linda Scheerer Doyle and Jim are in Falls Church and spent a weekend with Fran and Charley last fall. Fran says that Mo Callahan Gallagher and Denny are also in Va.

A letter from MWC brought news—both good and bad. The bad—in June we will have been out of college 20 years! The good—another fun reunion to plan for and enjoy! So keep in mind for next May 20-22 coming back to MWC and renewing old friendships.

Theresa Kujowski Schlachter is a resident of Fredericksburg and an artist whose talent appears to have no limitations. In the past she has enjoyed awards for, and sales of, her abstract and fine arts paintings. More recently Theresa added to her repertoire the skill of antique photo restoration as well as oil painted photo portraits. With her husband, Don, Theresa has contributed generously of her time and talents to Belmont which, as you know, is administered by MWC. In addition to many weeks of photographing the paintings at Belmont for archival purposes, Theresa and Don effected communicaiton between Belmont here in the United States and a society in Holland which seeks to preserve the works of Gari Melchers in that country. Theresa has been an active member of Media, the art group which sponsors the annual art show at Park and Shop Shopping Center.

From Barbara Booth (Linkey) Wilhelm: She is teaching in Oceanside, Calif. Husband, Frank, is in the insurance business. Daughter, Tracey, 16, is a varsity cheerleader at Oceanside High, plays field hockey and participates on the gymnastics team. Son, Mark, 13, is into 4-H and raising a lamb. His sport is soccer. They have an AFS student from Norway living with them this year. Anett Oweser is 18 and it has been a delightful experience for the whole family. Linkey picked up two new hobbies and loves them both—sailing and guitar playing.

From Kathleen Goddard Moss: Husband, Tom, is Director of Research at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, which is his hometown. They have four children—two girls, 10 and 12, and two boys, 8 and 11. Two are adopted and the whole tribe makes for a happier life, both exciting and unpredictable. Kathleen keeps busy with the children, volunteer work of all kinds and selling World Book Encyclopedias. Previously, Tom was staff director for a Congressional sub committee.

They visited with Kathleen's sister, also a MWC alumna, Eileen Goddard Alberigo. Her husband is an orthopedic surgeon, practicing at National Orthopedic Hospital. They have three children, 4, 8 and 10, and live in Fairfax County.

Ms. Lynn Barnett Fife
8912 Flower Avenue
Silver Spring, MD. 20901

Our fifteenth reunion has come and gone, and those of us who braved the rainy weekend were amazed to see what had changed and what hadn't. The Willard parlor was quite a surprise with its modular furniture.

Ann Perinchief Palamar was elected president at our class meeting. She has retired as president of the MWC Alumni Association and is concentrating on her job as Commonwealth's Attorney of the City of Fredericksburg. She was most informative in describing life on campus these days.

Mary Beth Bush Dore, elected class treasurer, is living in Haymarket, Va., and enjoying full-time homemaking, after a teaching career.

Eleanor (Pixie) Grainger Workman and Lynn Barnett Fife were elected as successive class agents. Lynn will take the first 2½ years, Eleanor the second, so send in your news—they're new at the job and need help! Eleanor is still living in Richmond and working as a part-time math teacher at the New Community School. Lynn is enjoying her new family and managing the database operations of the ERIC Clearinghouse on Higher Education at George Washington University.

Fonda Davis Eyler, after having gotten her Ph.D. in developmental psychology, is working at the J. Hillis Miller Health Center at the University of Florida, where her husband, John, is an associate professor in chemistry.

Roberta Hatcher Graves is now living in Kitty Hawk, N.C., where her husband Spotts, is a Presbyterian minister. She's working part-time as a dance teacher and enjoying 2-year-old Meredith.

Linda Todd (Toddy) Puller, when she's not busy as head timekeeper for her daughter's swim team, is working part-time at the Smithsonian Museum of American History in the Political History Department. She recently helped set up the George Washington exhibit ("GW: A figure upon the Stage"), which included the sign from the GW Inn in Fredericksburg. She works with another alumna, Carolyn Davies '76, who is a museum technician. Toddy's husband, Lewis, is an attorney in the General Counsel's office at the Pentagon, and is a great literary critic for Toddy's friends.

Old Town, Alexandria, was the site of a mini-reunion in July for a few of us. Toddy and Lynn were joined by Ginny Griffith Aldrich '66, Mary Turner Boyd, and Catherine Wilson for dinner and an evening of catching up. Ginny has been in the Washington, D.C., area while her husband, a Navy pilot, is in Italy. Mary is enthusiastic about her public relations job with Duke Power in Durham, N.C. She moved there last summer after having held a similar position in Atlanta with the Georgia Power Co. Catherine is living in Washington and working on Capitol Hill for a California representative.

Susie Church Dillon moved to Oxford, Md., with her husband, John, and three children last summer. The small village atmosphere is definitely a change of pace, and this part of the Eastern Shore is quite beautiful from all reports. Susie is living in what is called the "Grapevine House," which was added to the Maryland House Tour shortly after they moved in. Unfortunately, her father was terminally ill, and she spent much of the summer traveling to be with him.

On a lighter note, Julie Mackall has been found in Lewiston, Me., working as the only woman professor in the chemistry department at Bates College. She ended up in Maine after getting her Ph.D. from Case Western Reserve and doing postdoc work at Johns Hopkins. She loves teaching undergraduates, although she would like to be able to do more research.

Martha Puller Downs recently returned with her family from a tour in Germany, visited with her brother, Lewis, and Toddy Puller in July, and then moved to the Marine Corps Base at Twentynine Palms, Calif.

A daughter was born to Perry and Mary Hage Doermann '67 of Medina, Ohio. Lindsey Elliot arrived on Feb. 2, 1982. They also have a son, Christian Edward, 2.

Many thanks to Anne Hoskot Kreutzer, my main source of news this time. Anne and Tom live in Woodbridge, where she keeps the books for his plumbing business and, in her "spare" time, plays mother to their four sons!! She frequently sees Betty Ferguson Finney and her four children and Kathy McKiernan Carney who moved to Egypt this summer with her husband and two sons.

Anne's senior suite keeps in touch; Martha Wilbourne Cummings, Mike and their three sons recently returned from a year in Okinawa. Barbie Hopta Reid lives in Richmond with husband, George, and their two children. Anne reported also on Marianne DeBlois Zentz, and a few weeks later I ran into her at Sesame Place in Langhorne, Pa! What a surprise! She and husband, Ed, live in Edison N.J., with their four children.

I saw Judy Shearer Eyster at a Delaware Chapter luncheon earlier this year. She traveled from Lancaster, Pa.

My apologies to Debbie Morrison Crowe for misplacing my notes last year. At last word she was living in Arlington, flying for Pan Am and awaiting Mike's return from Afghanistan. Debbie had flown with Linda Trinko and wants to hear from Mary Jane Kellam.

Frances Smith Armstrong and daughter, Brannan, 6, are now back in Virginia. Frances is teaching in Fairfax Co. Her sister, Betsy Smith Edmunds '72, is now happily living in Tralee, Ireland where her husband manages a Burlington Plant. They have two children, Cas, 4, and Emily, 1. Frances and Brannan were heading to visit them and other European spots this summer.

Marianne Radich Schuman and George had a daughter, Lauren Brooke, in July.

I am still one of that dying breed—the non-working (or rather, non-paid!) mother; in other words, I volunteer for everything under the sun, and I'm never home. But call me before 8 a.m. or invest in a 20-cent stamp. Your classmates await your news!

Marion Blakey has been appointed Director of Public Affairs for the National Endowment for the Humanities. She had been on the staff since 1970 in the divisions of research and special programs and with the agency's planning office.

Betty Jo Underdahl Lorentzen married an engineer from Kalispell, Montana in 1979. They have a son, John. Betty Jo has worked for the past five years as a purser aboard the ships of the Alaska Marine Highway, which travel between ports in Southeast Alaska. Since John arrived in July 81, she has been home in their new four bedroom house completed last year.

From Karen: As usual, I seem to be one issue behind in writing. For those who responded to my "Alumnigram," thank you. I feel as if I'm renewing some old acquaintances again, and maybe through this column others can do the same. Southern Germany, my new duty station, is a delightful, idyllic experience, and our welcome door is open for anyone passing this way.

Julia McClelland Rentz works as a budget analyst and she and her husband have professional dealings with the field station here in Germany. It's certainly a small world. . . . Julia wrote me that Pam Temple Roach is now a high school guidance counselor in Richmond. Sent anyone to MWC this year? Write, Pam.

Patty Killefer Dunkin works for the State Welfare Dept. in Richmond, but may go back to school for dentristry.

Barb Whitmer Hill and Donny are in the area. The last time I talked to Barb was in San Francisco almost 10 years ago.

Ginny Bovino Ward is a position classification specialist with GSA and lives in Annandale.

Has anyone heard from Dale Broughton Siebert? My Christmas card was returned this year.

Evelyn Dezerne Barrett and I had lunch several times before I transferred, and as of this writing, Eve is expecting her second child. She has left OMB to be a full-time mother. She and her husband, Larry, are active in hiking and camping as well as working for the preservation of whales and sea turtles.

I understand Major Kathy Lewis Newbold has left the Marine Corps and was awarded a meritorious service medal. She is also expecting her first child. The Marine Corps has lost an outstanding officer, but I know Kathy will make a terrific mother.

San Diego has become the home for Liz Keith Allison and her husband, Glenn. She is working as a consultant in the social welfare area.

Freda Jo Lodge has been seen wandering the halls of HQMC. Are you still there, Freda?

Warminster, Pa., is home for Barb Exline Staller where she has finished her requirements for a PHD. in education. By this writing she probably has achieved that milestone. Congrats, Barb!

I was pleasantly surprised by a letter from Vickie Palm Noseck who lives in Tucson, Az., and has an MED in deaf education. Vicki is the school psychologist at the Arizona State School for the Deaf and Blind. Vicki passed news that Corrine Davis no longer teaches and is instead a computer programmer for Philip Morris in Richmond.

Kathy Fleming works as a travel agent in Washington. Last heard, Diane Mowrey was teaching in England. Diane, where are you?????

Pam Hudson is still in Virginia Beach working in a Mental Health Center.

I have heard several times from Nancy MacAllister Bishop who works as a counselor in Ulvade, Texas and is affiliated with the Wycliffe Bible Translators.

Susan Harder surprised me with a newsy letter on some impressive stationery. She's recently opened her own Art Gallery on 57th Street in New York. It's called the Susan Harder Gallery, and I'm sure she'd welcome any visitors from MWC. She keeps in touch with Yuri McCarthy Gauso who is the curator of photography collections at the L.A. County Museum of Art in California.

Bev Don '70, lives in New York and is a buyer of photographs for print advertisements for the Young and Rubicam Agency.

From the Alumni Office: Jack and Anne Patterson MacKinnon have a daughter, Lindsay Rider, born Jan. 1981. Anne is tutoring while waiting for Lindsay to reach nursery school age.

Katherine (Kitty) Tinkham Vanzant left government service in 1979 following the birth of a son, Josephy Courtenoy Vanzant III, and has found home renovation very satisfying. Since that time there have been two new additions: a garden room with new kitchen and a daughter, Kathryn Hetson, born Nov. '81.

She reports that Anne Gibson Snyder Stovall has her own art gallery in Frederick, Md. She supervises and does framing, gives shows to sponsor other artists work, and has recently completed a portrait commissioned by Washington and Lee University. She and her husband, Michael, have a son, Jessee.

Holly Miller Sullivan is a supervisor in the Dept. of Human Services, state of Connecticut. She and husband, Gregory, have a one-year-old daughter, Megan.

Amy Louise Long Fields manages her family's general contracting firm in Lancaster, Penn.

Richmond, VA. 23226

June brought a memorable tenth reunion for approximately 50 members of the Class of '72. It was a joy to see so many familiar faces and sights, to reminisce and to catch up. Everyone talked until they were hoarse!

Pat Ferguson Daniel and Kathy Hanna Honan successfully organized our agenda and compiled an informative reunion directory. Dale Eberwein Pappas consented to be reunion coordinator in 1987, while Julia Obarski Simpson, Martha Master and I will serve as treasurer and class agents, respectively.

Metropolitan Washington was home for many attendees. Meredith Smith Exnicios resides in Lorton and teaches special education in Quantico. She and Jim, a Pentagon attorney, have a 2-year-old son, Andrew. Ruth Foster is a property management specialist, while Karen Harwood is an attorney for Fairfax County. Dale Eberwein Pappas works as a legislative assistant for a Washington law firm. Her husband, Tony, is an engineer and consultant. The Martin Luther King Memorial Library is fortunate to have Kathy Ray as an assistant chief librarian. In her spare time Kathy works on her Ph.D. in American Studies.

Chris Stover Romero is with the World Bank. She and her husband, John, a physical therapist, are expecting their first child this year. I was delighted to see my old hallmate, Carol Hazucha VanDuzer and her architect husband, Dave. Carol teaches English to Asian refugees in Arlington County and remodels a Logan Circle townhouse on weekends.

Farming and families occupy Mary Saunders Williams and Sherrie Mitchell Boone. Mary and Jesse have two children and raise Hereford cattle at their Suffolk farm. Sherrie tends her Montvale farm and daughter, Leighanne, while husband, Worth, runs his own computer management firm. The Boone's are expecting another child this winter.

Kathy Duley may have traveled furthest to attend the reunion; she manages an Oriental import business in Aspen, Colo. Jane Danforth Judd flew in from Findlay, Ohio, where she is a sales representative for Dayton Eureka. Jane and her husband, Amo, an explosive sales division manager, are hot air ballooning enthusiasts. Jane was accompanied by Clara Wooddy '73. Clara is a tourism promoter in Waldorf, Md., for a regional planning organization.

Julia Obarski Simpson has the travel bug, too, as a national accounts manager for Ask Mr. Foster Travel Agency in Washington. Julia and her husband, John, manager of Mt. Vernon Real Estate, hosted a reunion brunch at their Fredericksburg home. Among Julia's guests were Carol Quaintance Hammit, a cartographer in Flint Hill; and Penny Doane Witt, who resides in Upper Montclair, N.J. with her husband, Joe, a market research consultant, and two daughters.

Midge Barnett Caldwell raises two children and is serving a three-year term on a local human rights committee of the Southern Virginia Mental Health Institute. Her husband, Richard, is a draftsman and officer of a Martinsville construction firm.

Nancy Mahone Miller does social work for the City of Chesapeake and works on her M.S. in library science at Catholic University. Her husband, Charles, is a sales representative for Virginia Data Center.

Teaching and an American Studies dissertation occupy Kathy Atkinson Miller in Athens, Ga. Beth Conrad Shelley serves as a volunteer firefighter when she is not working as a criminal investigator for the Moorestown, N.J. prosecutor's office. Her husband, Karl, is a fire administrator.

Kathy Bradford Gillette married Frank Lehman in May. She is a private school librarian in Richmond; Frank is a computer programmer. In August, Kathy and her 4-year-old son, Andrew, traveled to Tralee, Ireland to visit George and Betsey Smith Edmunds and their two children, Cas, 4, and Emily, 1½. The Edmunds are spending three years in Tralee where George is a plant manager for Burlington. Kathy also reported that Rita Bissell and Liz Pully are visiting Linda Kay Carpenter in Hong Kong. Linda Kay is a transportation planner for a model community outside of that city.

Deborah Ann Stahl received her Ph.D. in psychology from Washington University in St. Louis.

I reside in Richmond with my husband, Steve, a gastroenterologist, and a 2-year-old, Ann. I hope to resume a law career in the future. Word of other classmates must wait for the next edition. I would like to locate Ann Toms, Freddie Hastings, and Donna Briggs Land. Please put me on your mailing lists, write often, and help generate enthusiasm for an even larger turnout at our next reunion.

From Sue Rogers Gilmartin: After 3½ years in the Tidewater area and 4½ years in Richmond, my Labrador Retriever and I moved to Atlanta in March, '80. I am now enjoying the position of Office Manager at Atlanta Unity Church.

I re-married on April 3rd this year; my husband, Neil, is with General Electric Information Services in computer software. We plan to go to Europe for the Christmas holidays as a belated honeymoon.

My spare time activities include refinishing antiques, working in the yard of our newly-built house, running, camping and ice-skating.

Jane Huston McCauley came down for our wedding. Jayne and her two sons live in Virginia Beach where she is in banking with a savings and loan association.

Robby Maxon Robinson and her husband, Dave, live in Woodbridge. Both work for the Dept. of Navy in D.C.

Deborah Biggers Garrison is working as a Systems Engineer at Jones-Farley in Fredericksburg. Her husband, John, is a chemist at the Naval Surface Weapons Center. They have three children ranging in age from one to six (Sean, Justin and Heather). Deborah's extra-curricular activities include working with the Alumni Association and letter writing in support of the MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Drivers) Organization.

Christine Ransom and her husband Richard are the proud parents of a baby girl, Mary Elizabeth, born June 16, 1982. Mary Driehaus Schwem and husband, Bill, are enjoying duty on Hawaii. She started a small crafts business from her home and is active in school activities with her three children. In addition, she is busy working with clubs and teaching craft classes.

Janet Pickeral recently got married but no details are available. Barbara Barnes Krug and husband, Larry, are the proud parents of a baby girl.

Sharon Richmond is working for Weight Watchers and is engaged to be married in September. HOPE TO SEE ALL OF YOU AT OUR TENTH REUNION IN MAY 83!

Hi, everyone! Wow, a whole lot has happened since the last column. To begin with, I've left the shores of beautiful Lake Tahoe to return to the eastern part of the country. I've tentatively moved to New Haven, CT., but I hope it will become permanent. (The address above belongs to my parents who will forward mail to me until I am settled.) In the course of packing and unpacking, I came across a lot of news and questionaires from you. I hope you'll forgive any old news or repetition I may have.

Janette Gates Sroka wrote a nice letter from Pittsburgh, Pa. Any alumni in her area are requested to contact her. She and her husband, Bob, are expecting their third child in September. She said that Chris Romanias married Charles Bury in May of '81. They are living in Alexandria, Va., where Chris is a reading teacher in the public school system. In August of '81, Kathy Farrell married Gary Hershner. Kathy is a speech therapist in the Richmond, Va., school system.

Katherine Farrah Willard has been serving as a nurse for six years at University Hospital in Charlottesville. That's commitment! Patty Rhodes Myers works for a legal firm in San Raphael, Ca.

I've also heard from Mary Sue Allyn Bernal in Rochester, N.Y. She has her hands full with two little ones. Diane Bassemir is keeping a lot of people happy in the air on her Pan Am flights (she's a flight attendant), after working in the Peace Corps. Missie Louise Carpenter is living the life of a "back-to-earther" at a commune/co-op in Quebec province with her husband.

Leslie Gross Huff wrote from Japan. She'd been traveling in China, Taiwan, Hong Kong. (Her husband was working as a consultant for a Japanese client of his company.) It was the kind of sabbatical that Leslie really enjoyed. By the time you read this, classmates, Leslie and Fred should be stateside, and Leslie should be back at work at the Art Institute of Chicago.

Bettiann Aylor is teaching junior high in Mechanicsville, Va., and has done some recruiting for MWC. Nancy Brown Jones is working as an editor for a company in Georgetown. She and husband, Bill, live in Burke, Va. Joanne Hess Anderson is busy being 'mommy' to little Kirk. She and husband, Michael, are now in Myrtle Beach, S.C.

In the baby department: Mary Gabor Young and hubby, Scott, had a daughter—their first child—in October of '81. Debbie Frick Carlisle and Jeff had twin girls born in November of '81. More recently, Barbara Bowman Scott and husband, Marlin, had their first, a boy, in February, and Nancy McKenny Ritter had her second a boy. K. Octavia Nicely Cubbins and her husband, Rick, had Amber Nicole in November of '81. (Octavia is working toward her master's in secondary ed. at James Madison Univ.) Elaine H. Davies and her husband, William, had one-of-each twins in Newport News in September '80 (by now I bet they're into everything!) Denise Mattingley Luck and Dwight had a baby boy a little more than a year ago in Spotsylvania, Va. Francis Embrey Mitchell was expecting in November of '81.

Amy Harrier Hathaway and Pete are expecting their first baby in November.

Alice Harding Thomas and Robert had their first, a daughter, Audrey Corbin, in July.

Amongst the singles: Debra L. Dunivin in Long Island should have her Ph.D by now in clinical psychology. She thanks those at MWC who helped her with the doctoral thesis research that she did on campus.

Patricia A. McIntyre is working as a translator in McLean, Va. Becky (Rebecca A.) Johnson is happily teaching French and Spanish in West Point, Va., having received certification in '77.

Carol Bellomo is back in Manville, New Jersey working for AT&T Long Lines.

My old suitemate in Madison Hall, Diana Davis Osborne, wrote a nice note saying my roomie Sarah Raynor got married. Anyone got any more news on that? Sarah was class of '76, I think, and had the talent to be a super cartoonist.

It's not too early to start looking toward the Ten Year Reunion/Homecoming for our class in 1984. The Alumni Office can furnish more information to you on request.

Karen Kiss Ward and husband Michael are enjoying parenthood with their six month old daughter, Jennifer. Michael is an attorney and a partner in the firm of Gannon, Cottrell and Ward in Alexandria, Virginia.

After bouncing around Virginia and South Carolina as a teacher, Ann Carol Moffett Pritchett now writes from Evanston, Wyoming, where she is program coordinator for a day care/preschool program. Husband, Rob, is a civil engineer. Letters to Ann Carol from Ball 2nd West—Dru Downey Robinson and husband, Jim, have two adorable daughters. Lynn Eastwood Rigelman and Sandy Smith Heitz are both in Charlottesville.

Carol Pappas Barthold reports that she has joined the Los Angeles office of Price Waterhouse & Co. as an auditor. She recently received a Meritorious Service Award from Beta Alpha Psi (national accounting fraternity) from Cal. State University in L.A. Congratulations, Carol!! Her husband, Warren, is a member of the Orquesta Sinfonica de Xalapa in Mexico. Carol spends all her vacation time in Xalapa, Mexico with her husband—4500 feet above sea level.

Gail Gardner Bridges is married to Frank Rappo. They live in Painted Post, N.Y. She is working for Corning.

Patricia H. Powers married John Stephen Gaske in May. They are in Bloomington, Indiana.

I thoroughly enjoyed my spring vacation in Honolulu visiting Phyllis Quinn '77.

Jane Reese-Coulbourne's wedding in February was quite a Mary Wash reunion. Long distance award goes to Susan Fassnacht Hunt who came from Calgary, Alberta to be Jane's matron of honor. Susan is teaching geography at Mount Royal College in Calgary. Pat Finamore completed her master's in cartography at Indiana University and now works at the Defense Mapping Agency. Linda Roberts Fluke works across the hall from Pat! Pat also reported that Dolly Carmody is working for Northwest Orient in Washington, D.C. Betty Ann Gupton, who also attended the wedding, works at the State Department of Housing and Community Development in Richmond, VA. Sally Mize Moore and I drove up to the wedding, too.

Mary Carroll wrote that she visited with Sue Smith Hane in Memphis last Thanksgiving. She is working at Memphis State University.

Barbara Schultheis Snyder had a daughter, Anna Elizabeth, on April 15th. Her former roomie, Mary Ann Kalafat Wray, and husband, Tim, moved to Virginia this summer. Mary Ann is expecting their first child in October.

Debbie Dawson Troy wrote that she was accepted at the Medical University of South Carolina. She and her husband, Phil are moving to Charleston.

Becky Adams Mauck informed me that she and Newby have a son, Lawrence Newbill Mauck IV!! She also wrote that Debbie Schutte Bryan is a training supervisor at Thalhimers, and that Suzanne Prince married Robert Phariss last summer.

Sandy McLoughlin Liles wrote that after graduation from MWC she got a BS in medical technology at East Carolina University. She and her husband, Don, have a son, Wesley. Don is a district manager for Arby's, Inc. They'll be moving to Lexington, Kentucky.

A letter from Carrie Bell Jacobus told me of her current news. She has a 2-year-old daughter, Belinda. Carrie spent two years teaching chemistry prior to Belinda's birth. She also wrote that Lynn Gambino Slayter lives in Colorado and is dancing in a modern dance company. Kathy Morra-Sloan lives in Danville and has a 2½-year-old daughter, Courtney.

Big news from Kathy Bortz: she will be marrying Joseph Hancock in October. He is employed by the Boy Scouts of America as District Scout Executive for the Rappahannock District. They'll be living in Fredericksburg after their wedding. Kathy is still practicing law in Bowling Green, Va.

Alison Haworth Regan sent me a letter from Buenos Aires. She married Don Regan in November 1980 and hasn't stopped traveling since! He's a geologist for Amoco International. She's getting fluent in Spanish since she uses it every day. Alison keeps busy with a bridge club, exercise classes and a book club.

I ran into Darlene Calandra '77 in Farragut Square in D.C. She's working for Edison Electric Institute. Her sister, Faythe Calandra, is working for the Agency for International Development. She went to Haiti in December '81 on business and loved it.

Martha Dunn '79 married Perry Floyd, the Director for Constituent Services for Senator Schmitt from New Mexico. Sue Holloway '79 was maid of honor. She is teaching emotionally disturbed adolescents in Arlington. Mary Jane Boggio '79 was also a bridesmaid. She works for John Hansen, a bank in Baltimore. Other bridesmaids were Suzy Dengler '79, who works in a bank in Baltimore, and Jude Bertram '78, who is working for the National Guard in Richmond.

There are lots of weddings for 76ers this year. Reggie Tambellini and Brian Harbourne were married August 7. They are moving to Austin, Texas where Brian will teach at the University of Texas. He just completed his PhD. in applied math at MIT. Daphne Johnston Elliott was one of Reggie's bridesmaids. She told me she went to Carrol and Lucy Dee Kinzey's "we're out of the Army" party in July. Carrol got a government job. Lucy is a paralegal in Washington, D.C. Daphne also informed me that Cathy Colbert is living in Los Angeles and is a paralegal. Jayne Shepherd got her MS at MCV in occupational therapy.

Marge Schlemm is marrying Ron Sidman in August. They will live in Massachusetts. Marge is working on her physician's assistant degree at Northeastern University in Boston.

Debbie Daniels is marrying Jim Sagmiller on October 9 in Danville, Va. She called me from Maryland with the big news.

Rich and Sue Sendlein Luscomb are moving to West Berlin this year from Friedberg, West Germany. Rich will be stationed there as the Chief of Mental Health Services.

A letter from Rick and Tricia Barton Bouwmans reported their move to Orange County, California from Boston. Rick is an assistant regional manager with Brown Forman Distillers Corp. Tricia is working in word processing with the Orange County Transit District. They like sunny California but still miss Virginia.

I plan to have MWC send a questionnaire to all of you this fall. Please take time to fill it out so our column in the MWC 75th Anniversary Year will be a good one. I appreciate your help!

From Elizabeth:

Hi, everyone! I hope you have enjoyed your summer. Congratulations go to Nancy Byrd Yowell '77 who married Richard Gaylord in Madison, Va., on June 26. They will live in Madison where they both teach in the school system. In the wedding were Carolyn Yowell '76, Pat Reny '77, Cathy Vaughn Gill '78, and Karen Jones '78. Carolyn is living in Culpeper, Va., where she is teaching school. Pat is living in Alexandria, Va., where she works as a buyer for Stern Office Furniture in Washington, D.C. On September 11 she plans to marry Jerry Himan who works for C & P Telephone. They will continue to live in Alexandria.

Karen, since graduation, has been very busy. She traveled to Bermuda with friends right after graduation, then to West Germany and Austria with the MWC Alumni Association, and this past October she went on a Christian Pilgrimage to Egypt and Israel. In between all this, she has worked as a summer intern for GSA; and a clerk-typist for the Department of Energy. She is now employed by P.E. Systems Corporation in data communications security as an engineering programs management analyst. She is also taking courses from USC in systems management. Karen lives in Springfield, Va., where she shares a townhouse with her brother. In July, Karen went on a business trip to Switzerland, and she's planning a trip to Jacksonville, Fla. in September. Cathy and her husband, Harry, have a 7-month-old daughter, Rebecca. They are living in Gum Spring, Va. Cathy now has her MA in speech pathology from UVA.

Kim Strange '77 married Marty Bryant on November 2, 1981. They are living in N.C., where Marty is working at Duke University as a pediatrician.

Sarah Metzel Adams '77, now married to David, is working for the Defense Mapping Agency in Washington, D.C.

Pat Baals Wheeler '79 and Steve have moved to a new house in Richmond, where she is working at the VA Hospital. Susan Dahl Jones, who left MWC in 1978, is living in Silver Spring, Md., with her husband and new baby, Nora Elizabeth.

Susan Davis is singing in a rock band in the D.C. area.

Bobbi Rollins plans to marry Namir Shammas on September 25. They will live in Richmond, where Namir works for IDI and Bobbi works for UVB.

Deb Love Saintsing and David are expecting their first child in September. They are now living in Richmond. Amanda Pittman Gordon '79 gave birth to a son, Ryan Warner, May 20.

Laura Klein '79 is a research chemist at the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences in Bethesda, Md. In April she went to New Orleans to present the results of her research projects to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. She enjoys her work and is living in Rockville, Md.

Carol Miller writes in answer to my "missing persons bulletin" that Allen Nichols married Steven Michael Scott in May 1980 and lives in Walkersville, Md., where she works at the Frederick Cancer Research Lab. Carol also writes that Mary Jane Ford Granger and Charlie are hoping to move to Baltimore or Philadelphia when his military duty is over late this summer. Carol is still teaching elementary music in two schools in Woodbridge, Va. This summer she took a course for recertification at Westminster Choir College in Princeton, N.J., and went on a trip to Europe with her church choir.

Lynn Baker and her husband have opened their own business in Georgetown, one of the sixteen "Complete Baldwin Brass Centers" nationwide. They now live in McLean, Va.

Nancy Reid is still working at the Department of the Interior and is living on Capitol Hill.

Susan Hektner was recently promoted to Legislative Caseworker for Congressman Edward Roybal of California. Susan went to Virginia Beach in June for the Christening of Ashley Faust who was born April 15, 1982 to Beth Warner Faust and Roger. Beth and Roger are living in Plainville, Conn., where she works for the Marriott Corporation. Jayne-Leslie Catullo '77 is Ashley's godmother. She is now attending a six-week course at Graphic Arts Institute in Florence, Italy and plans to stay and find work.

Terri Schackleford has returned from Africa and is now teaching in Petersburg, Va.

Janet de la Concepción is living in Lexington, KY., where she completed her MA in Spanish. She works for the Hilton in Lexington and welcomes friends who might be out that way for the World's Fair.

Farhad and Deby Cox Blgdely had a son April 1982, Austin Amir. They live in Richmond.

June 5, 1982 was the wedding of Sarah McCracken and Stephen Thomas in Clearwater, Florida. After a honeymoon in Vermont, they returned to Dallas, where Sarah teaches drama. Other MWC alumni attending the wedding (besides Sarah's mother!) included Karen Zipf Filkins, Kim Ravizza Sayre, Pamela Wright Meyers and Valinda Feather.

Karen Zipf Filkins works for a drafting firm and loves her work. She and her husband, Peter, will be transferring in April back to Northern Virginia from Virginia Beach.

Kim Ravizza Sayre resides in Laurel, Maryland and travels quite frequently across the country.

Winona Schlam spent this summer touring Canada, after visiting England last summer. Nonie lives in Fredericksburg and teaches in the area.

Helen Faust was married last year to William Kunder. Helen and Bill, both of whom are in the U.S. Coast Guard, make their home in Cape May, New Jersey.

Also living in New Jersey is Pamela Wright Meyers. She and her husband Tony bought a house in Chatham. Pam is working for IBM in the National Accounts Division.

Valinda Feather is living in Falls Church. She continues to be active with acting and is involved in consulting work. Valinda is planning a tour of Europe in the very near future.

From Barbara: You haven't heard from me in quite a while, but I'm back with some news. I have spent this past year in Charlottesville working on my master's in public administration and working as an intern in the city manager's office. If all goes well with my thesis, I'll have the degree in August. I see quite a few other MWC'ers down here—Jeannie Weller finished her second year of graduate school; she's working on a master's in anthropology and a Ph.D. in education. Robin Turner has completed her third year of med school. Needless to say, we never see her. And Karen Sobieski just finished year two of law school at UVa. She also married Joe Conroy this past May.

Speaking of May weddings, Lisa Carle Shields was married a year in May to Tom Shields. They're living in a lovely home that they bought in Stafford. Wild Gayle Weinberger Petrozino also celebrated the first anniversary of her marriage to Mark Petrozino this August. Another one to tie the knot was Judy Kemp who has been married for almost two years and is expecting her first child! Peggy Alfriend has plans to marry in August 1982. Her roommate, Barb Stammerjohn Teets was an October bride last year. She married Greg, her longtime sweetie. So much for the married crowd.

Among our distinguished career women we have Cyn Anderson, star of stage, screen and WLEE, a radio station in Richmond. Cyn started out at WQRA in Warrenton, but has since moved to the big city. Her roommate, Moira Carr is studying urban planning and is managing a children's store in exciting New Orleans. Cyn shares an apartment with Leslie Mayer who has become a modern day Florence Nightengale after receiving her nursing degree from MCV in 1981. Leslie Schluter has finished law school at the University of Denver (Sandra Day O'Connor better watch out!). Sallie Smith earned her master's degree in architectural history from UVa., and is now working in historic Williamsburg. Betsy Bowen, back from her worldwide jaunt, is imbuing knowledge in the minds of youngsters as a private school in Maine where she teaches English. Sally Hart is putting her master's in planning to good use working for the city of Harrisonburg.

News hot off the wires!!! The infamous Mike McGuire has finally been trapped. He's getting married to a childhood sweetheart in New Jersey this October. There's hope for everyone.

More news—Nena Lee has been working as an analyst for ADTECH, a consulting firm and enjoys it very much. Betsy Larson is busy making plans for a trip to Japan with her family to visit an older brother. And finally, Lisa Jenkins survived a RIF with the Labor Department and is now working for the Interstate Commerce Commission. It just goes to show you can't keep a good bureaucrat down. With that I'd better close. Send more news (so I don't have to make it up—just kidding).

From the Alumni office:

Donald L. Chewning has graduated from Radford University with a M.A. in Industrial Organizational and Psychology. Since graduation Don has held a position in the Personnel Dept. of Radford Community Hospital.

Susan K. Lawler has been promoted to assistant vice president and assistant manager of the Richmond main office of Virginia National Bank.

Becky Atkinson is married to William Jackson. They are living in Fairfax, Va.

Suzanne M. Guadagne received her M.A. in economics and social development (Latin American Studies Program) from Georgetown University in May, 1982. She is currently with the O.A.S. and enjoying it.

She also writes a weekly newspaper column.

Kim Rossman Gayle is an elementary art teacher for Spotsylvania County. Nancy Seay married James W. Yeatts; they live on a dairy farm in Chancellor, where she helps her parents operate a restaurant. Susan Shaw lives in Fredericksburg, and is an administrator for the Historic House Assoc. of America in D.C. She also does free-lance graphic design, edits a newsletter and teaches piano lessons too! She wrote that Nancy Hayward is working at the National Trust for Historic Preservation. Also, Lewis Wendell works in protocol at the State Dept.

Sheryl Sullivan and Sarah Sasser took a trip to France and England; now they're operating a restaurant in Fredericksburg at 801 Caroline St. Sheryl writes that Lisa Stevens Watjen and husband, Tom, are living in Connecticut, Emily Powell is in Lynchburg, Brian Vella has finished his lst year of law school in Louisville, KY, and Sue Carr is still living in the Virginia Beach area, as is Ann Cary Nelms Carr, who married Sue's brother Nevin last July. Jill Vincent wrote that she was engaged, and planned to be married in July. She's been working as a Dept. of Defense investigator.

Susan Gayle Anderson is a graduate teaching assistant, working on her M.S. in mathemathics. Nancy Andrews is the resident supervisor of a co-ed dorm (freshmen!) at Longwood College. She's taken several graduate psych. courses there, too. Gwen Arnhoff is a secretary at the American Council of Life Insurance in D.C. She had a restaurant review published in the Washington Post. She is getting married on Oct. 3, 1982 to Michael Henson at the University Chapel in Charlottesville. Katherine Beckett is a legal aid—she attended the Institute for Paralegal Training in Philadelphia.

Terri Bell is enjoying sunny Florida. She's the head of Clinical Microscopy in the clinical lab of a hospital there. Amanda L. Bruch is engaged to Steve Ogden—they plan to be married in November. Amanda is an industrial-commercial engineer with Gulf Oil. Laura Ann Campbell is living in Leesburg, and teaches 6th grade language arts and social studies at Sterling Middle School.

Valerie L. Campbell is in a 4-year program at VA-MD Regional College of Veterinary Medicine. She was inducted into Phi Sigma Biology Honorary Society. Diane Christopher has a public relations and fund-raising position with the Alumni Association of Georgetown U. Luanne Conrad received her M.Ed. in Speech Pathology in August. Susan Dahl Jansen has a little girl, Nora Elizabeth. She and her husband bought a townhouse last September; in June, they gave a seminar at their Christian fellowship. Esther DeJulio has one child also, named Lauren. Catherine C. Dickey (Katy) was finishing her master's in government from UVa. Jennifer Dix Ricketts is a Lt. in the Air Force. She was married on Dec. 30, 1981 to Rande Alan Ricketts. Jennifer attended intelligence training in Denver, then was stationed at SAC Headquarters in Omaha to work in photo interpretation. Debra Dovel is assistant development manager with a condo and co-op housing development firm in Georgetown. She says that "Business is all a big fun game!" Martha A. Dunn wrote that she was getting married in June to Perry D. Floyd. She's a secretary/administrative asst. for the Aviation Trade Association.

Kathleen Epson Spaulding writes that she was teaching high school chemistry for a while. She and her husband, Ralph (who is a Lt.j.g. in the Navy), have started a business together called General Educational Services, which offers tutoring, seminars, etc. Dawn Forbes is beginning her third year of med school at UVA. Sue Garter works for Bell Labs in New Jersey as a human factors psychologist in the Human Performance Engineering Dept. She works with problems encountered by people when they interact with computers. Sue writes that Jan Stankiewicz is living in Freehold, N.J., and works for New England Mutual Insurance Co. Marcia Grozen-Smith is a computer programmer/analyst. They are expecting (or just had) a baby in September, and are moving to Hawaii for three years. Julia Harrell is a community planner for USAF, and she lives with Candy Sams, who is working as an editorial assistant for the Department of the Navy magazines. James D. Hely (Jim) is production supervisor of a drug and cosmetic firm in Newark, N.J. Colleen Henegan is attending James Madison U. for her master's and educational specialist degrees in school psych. It's a three year program, and she's in her second year. Lisa Howard is a ballet teacher for the city of Falls Church Recreation & Parks Dept. She also continues to perform with a small dance group under the direction of Kathleen Harty Gray, a former MWC dance instructor.

Jennifer Kilgour Nix was a fountain of information. She and her husband, Edward, have a baby girl, Laura Elizabeth. Jennifer says she loves being a mother! She and Edward teach Sunday School and hold prayer meetings on Saturdays. During the week, she helps with the church's telephone ministry. She writes that Donna Fluharty married Bob Black in April this year. Loretta Pincus married Ed Scheetz in August 1981, and they had a baby girl, Jacinta Maria, in May of this year. They were moving to a farm in Vermont. Liz Nugent Wolfe and her husband, Mark, have a daughter, Beth, who was just two years old. Jennifer's sister-in-law, Sarah '81 married Tim Robertson, and they live in Fredericksburg. Jennifer made the gown. Her other sister-in-law, Carrie attends MWC and married Jim Roberts in June. They live in Spotsylvania.

Katy Hayman Sommers is a program director for the Travelers Cheque division of a new computer company. She sends out an invitation to anyone who's traveling in the Nashville area, to come see her. Katy wrote that Terri Moynihan and Sandy Jones are sharing an apartment. Terri works for Phillip Morris and Sandy is finishing her accounting degree at VCU. Also, Kathy Snyder was engaged to be married in August, and Kathy Whalen completed her program at U. of California, and was starting grad school in Boston. They all got together earlier in the year, with Lynn Honeycutt too. She's a medical technologist at Johnston Willis Hospital in Richmond.

Beth Logie McCrickard is a research specialist in the Rheumatology Dept. at Bowman Gray School of Medicine. She and her husband, Greg, live in Winston-Salem, N.C. Cindy E. Long married Thomas Reedy in January. Linda Lowman and Nancy Hayward were honor attendants. Cindy is the assistant supervisor-Producer Payroll Dept. for the MD and VA Milk Producers Assoc., Inc. Laura Lowe is a part-time peer counselor, and working toward her master of theological studies at VA Theological Seminary. Toni Luscavage Donnan is living in Hinesville, GA. Mike is a First Lt. in the Army at Ft. Stewart. Toni works as a paralegal/secretary for an attorney's office. (No, Toni, I don't jump low fences any more!) Sally MacAdoo McQuail received her M.A. in English this August. She is working at Northeast Missouri State U. as an instructor of English. Meg Matthews received a paralegal certificate from the U. of Richmond this summer. She was moving to the Northern VA area—where are you, Meg?

Janet L. McConnell is a computer programmer with Sperry Univac—Dahlgren Operations. She wrote that Margaret Little is teaching and living in Raleigh, N.C., and Cindy Lankford is rooming with Peggy, and working for the state. Edith McDaniel Flaig is a scientific programmer with Westinghouse. She was married to Kurt Flaig on March 20, 1982 in Richmond. Theresa Goodwyn, Leanne Haskins, Karyn Kimball, Lisa Bilder, and Catherine Lenzi attended; Kim Williams, Mary Dempewold, and Carol Lee served at the wedding; Janis Mahaney was a bridesmaid.

Kathy McMullen married Donald Lueckert last August. She works for C & P Telephone, and is working on her master's in telecommunications policy at GWU. Lisa McNulty attended the Paralegal Institute in New York, and works as a paralegal now. She sent word that Theresa Thomas (Terri) is running her own studio of dance in Great Falls, Va. Vicky Nichols is at Hahnemannn Medical College and Hospital in Pa., where she is working on a master of creative arts in therapy degree (dance therapy.) She expects to finish next June. Elizabeth Page Palmer is currently attending UVA. She has attended U. of Birmingham, Stratford-upon-Avon England, and U. of Minnesota. She won the Lower Level Theater of Minneapolis Playwriting Award.

Janine Peake is living in D.C. where she is a strategic planner/financial manager. Janine received her master's in international management with a concentration in finance and economics from Baylor U. If you go to visit her, don't park your car there—ask Ford Hart. Ford will be receiving his master's in international relations from UVA, and plans to go on for a Ph.D. Leslie Schluter '79 is graduating from the University of Denver Law School this year. Sameena Ahmed is married and has moved to Saudi Arabia.

Well, Cookie Pittman did it—she got her degree! She received her master's in education in counselor education, specializing in human services, marriage and family. She's currently in Harrisonburg as Director of a crisis intervention center which includes a shelter for abused women and children. Kathryn Pickett Tucker writes that she keeps very busy—husband Barry is pastor for two Presbyterian churches. Gayle Pope is a law student at Wake Forest. She worked on her master's in legislative affairs at GWU, while a legislative aide to Rep. J. Kenneth Robinson. Betty Ann Price Durrer is doing graduate work at UVA in theoretical math. She's done some traveling, too—to Hawaii after graduation, and on a cruise to St. Thomas last March. Susan Richardson Greene is an officer in the Air Force. She wrote that Vicky Kay is attending dental school at MCV. Lisa Nichols has joined the Peace Corps. She left in July for Zaire, Africa where she will be teaching English as a Foreign Language for two years.

Debbie Sharpe married Mike Fitzgerald in February. Seems like most of MWC was there, judging from my letters! Toni Luscavage Donnan was a bridesmaid. This summer, Debbie started graduate studies at ODU. She sent lots of news: Cyndi Hammond is working at GWU Hospital, Barb Mosely is also working at GWU. Mary Geraghty works on Capitol Hill and shares a townhouse with Sue Wilson. Jacquie Viau is a grad student at GWU. Julie Jensen and Mary Russell share a townhouse in Fairfax. Kathy Morris (MCV '80) married Greg Lambert last November. They live in Newport News, and Kathy is a physical therapist at Riverside Hospital. Helen Fones works for the Navy Dept. Polly Batchelder directs a Day Care Center in Fairfax. Nell Martin (MCV '81) is a dental hygienist in Richmond. Beth Eddins married David Setzer last December; she works for a department store in Palm Beach, FL.

Sandra Slusher is a computer programmer with Sperry Univac, Dahlgren. She sent word of several classmates, also. Debi Caton is a computer programmer with Good Year Atomic in Ohio. Kendra Thomas Rinke was married last May, and works as a computer programmer for Sperry Univac, Patuxent River, MD. Barb Gant works at the National Trust for Historic Preservation in D.C. Patty Reilly married Bob Mooney, and she was attending nursing school. Craig Latall is in Texas, and she would like to know if anyone has his address.

Frank Shields received his master's in the art of teaching from UVa. in December. Kathy Shelton Sieg and her husband Samuel have a little boy, Jonathan David, born February 26, 1982. Kathy spent one year in graduate school in recreation. She's involved in a Christian student organization at the University of Maryland. She stays in touch with Cathy Dodrill Reed, who is in Pennsylvania. Sue Massey is in Northern Virginia.

Jim Martin is in oceanography at ODU. He says he hopes to finish his M.S. program in May of 1983. Mike Kelly is also at ODU in oceanography graduate studies.

Kathleen Rowe is now living in her native New York with her five children, has graduated from New York University with an M.A. in general psychology. Kathy has been accepted into the doctoral program in neuropsychology at City University at New York, Queens College, and begins studies this fall.

Donna Shealor Merkle is a student of elementary education at the U. of Hawaii, Hilo. Carmela Sperlazza Southersis is working towards her master's in library science at UNC-Chapel Hill. Barbara Swank is NOW Accounts and Credit Card Coordinator for a savings and loan. She plans to attend law school at UNC-Chapel Hill. She's still involved in riding, and has two show horses that she's campaigned successfully throughout North Carolina. Dottie Traweek headed in the other direction—she's started graduate school at Dartmouth this fall. Pamela Turner Smith lives in Florida. She's project director/instructor for Bay Arts and Humanities Council Arts and Aging Program. Robin Viar Massie and her husband are remodeling an old three-story farmhouse. Robin says it's hard work, but lots of fun, too. Kim Warker has received her master's of sociology from the U. of Kentucky. She just started a Ph.D. program in urban affairs at U. of Delaware, for which she received a full fellowship. She recently visited Mary Pat Gallagher in Connecticut. M.P. teaches 9-12th graders. Gary (Wendling) Kuykendall married Gloria Ann Bowman '79 in February 1981. They spent their honeymoon driving across the country to California where they live and work now. Gloria teaches 6-8th graders at a Christian school, and Gary works with his father at David Kuykendall Truck Brokers, Inc. They both had their last names changed legally to Kuykendall. Jeannie Werner-Barlet and her husband, Dale, went on a Caribbean cruise to celebrate their first anniversary. They are moving to the Richmond area this fall. Alice Woodworth Campbell is a library assistant at UVA. She plans to start graduate courses in religious studies. Gardner received his M.A. in English, and continues working toward a Ph.D. On weekends, he's a D.J. for WXAM. Patricia Yamamoto Branscombe and her husband, James, have a 21-month-old boy, James Alexander. Patricia left in June to join her husband in Europe, where he was stationed by the Army.

Donna M. Smith sent a great letter. She attended American U. last summer and fall in an MBA program. She doesn't know for sure what she wants to do now—let us know where you end up, Donna. She and Sue Stapleton worked for awhile at Club Med in Colorado. Sue is still in Colorado, working for a computer firm. Jeanie Beazley married Chuck Gilbert in May at the Naval Academy Chapel. Amanda Parker was maid of honor, and Donna was a bridesmaid. Janine Peake, Cookie Pittman, Val Parks, Martha Williams, and Nancy Quynn attended. Val, Martha and Amanda are sharing an apartment in Annapolis. Val works for a publishing firm in Alexandria, Amanda for UN Assoc., and Martha for Raytheon. Ginny Andrews works for the CIA in Rosslyn. Suzanne Dominguez is finishing a management trainee program for Giant Food in Fairfax. Carin Carr Fernandez was expecting her second baby in August. Donna says their first daughter is just like Carin! Holly Kelly is planning her wedding for December 18 in Richmond.

Pam Troutman has been at Defense Mapping Agency for two years now, and she works in photogrammetry. She's been doing some digging, and found all kinds of people from MWC who are working there: Beverly Campbell '78 (had her second child last November), Robin Pender '78, Pam Marks '79, Beth Hoffman Howard '78, Lisa Dooley '78, Carolyn Keyser '79, Jackie Hopkins Wilson '77, Ellen Erskine '79, Steve Northcut '81, Rachel McCloud 82, and Kathryn Otto '81. From 1980: Ann Brewster, Alison Roedy, George Sempeles, Beth Murray, Amy Meyers, Pam Brown, and Susan Mock. Mary Hobson spent one summer there; she's now in grad school in Arizona.

I had a chance to see some friends in May. Kathryn Givens (Kit) was married to Howie Burns on the 29th in Salem, Va. Nancy LaClair Stults was a bridesmaid. There were lots of MWC'ers there, and everyone had a great time. We didn't even get kicked out of the Sheraton for showing movies at 1 a.m. Kit and Howie are living in Texas now, and Kit says she's getting used to it. Kathy Jones is getting married Sept. 25, in New Jersey. Hope to see lots of us there, too! Nancy and Larry finished their comprehensive exams and both made it through, so it looks like they'll be in Baltimore for awhile longer. I'm enjoying my work; I recently started a series of seminars on "Basics of Banking," designed to acquaint the "average" bank customer with the fundamentals of dealing with a bank. We concentrate alot on balancing a checkbook! It was really great to hear from so many of you; please don't wait for another questionnaire to write to me. Next deadline is February 1, so write before then!

Mark Raisor had nothing but good words for the 1981 Classnotes but felt we should know "what the 'kid' is doing!" He has been accepted to MCV Dental School and can't wait to start this fall—"you just can't keep a good man down."

Cindy Kay Robbins wrote to fill us in on her first year out of MWC. After a lazy summer of fun and sun, Cindy began to work for the Virginia State Police last August. After a very rigorous training period, she became a full-fledged state trooper last February. Currently stationed in Arlington, Cindy finds it very demanding and rewarding.

A large contingent of MWCers are at UVA. Nancy Skinner is working in the biochemistry department at the medical school. Also working in the different labs there are Logan Barrick and Evie Reem. Anita Mentzer is in the Department of Biology there, and Donna Morgan is a medical technician at the UVa Hospital. Cedric Rucker and Laura Proto are both attending graduate school there.

Gourama Uthappa is working in a lab at MCV, and Sandy Batts is working at American Medical Labs in Fairfax. Still in the Fredericksburg area is Steph Amato who is teaching 5th grade at Chancellorsville Elementary School in Spotsylvania County. Sue Flournoy is working with a legal aid firm in Arlington. Caroline Young was working in sunny Tampa, but hopes to be back in Fredericksburg.

Christie Putnam Nichols and her husband, Joel, became the proud parents of a baby girl, Sally Lauren, this past May. They are quite happy and living in Lynchburg. Helen Larkins just finished her first year of graduate school at Princeton University and reports that she is learning a lot of chemistry. This summer Helen continued research on her project and prepared for her oral exam in October—good luck. Helen's old roommate, Mary Kennedy, graduated this past summer from Marymount College in Arlington.

Dan and Mary Siegrist Hinz have moved once again! After a short stay in upstate New York and in Groton, CT, they have now moved a little closer to home—Newport News. Mary is anxious to start school at the College of William and Mary Law School.

Susan Dishman and Ensign John Michael Boyd, USN, an '82 graduate of VMI, were married on July 31. They will be living in Orlando, Fla., where John will be attending the Navy's Nuclear Power School and Susan will be working as a medical technologist.

Dee Pierce Martin and husband, Rich, had their first child, Sarah Rae, in March. She's a beautiful, blond angel and they are a very happy family living in Pensacola, Florida. Mary Chidester is working for Dickson Associates, a Washington, DC government public relations firm. Navy Ensign Lori Foster will be stationed with the Navy in Naples, Italy later this summer. Lori, Mary and Audrey Komito were bridesmaids at the wedding of Vicki Reynard to Ensign Kevin Thorne on June 5 at Fort Stewart, Ga. Vicki and Kevin will be living in Annapolis until January and then they will move on to Orlando, Fla.

Audrey Komito was married to 2nd Lt. Gordon Thomson on June 12 in Richmond. They will be stationed in Del Rio, Texas (note new address above). Lynn Shepard just completed her first year of graduate school at Syracuse University—only one semester left! This past summer she helped organize the summer program for the new master's of public administration students which included another MWC graduate—Mike Bennett '82.

We'd love to write more but we haven't heard from too many of you. Let's hear from you so we can let the rest of the class know what's going on.

Congratulations are in order for Lauri Durbin and Cheryl Blades Kennedy. Lauri and Lt. Mark Ferguson are to be married October 2nd and then they will be moving to Norfolk. Cheryl and husband, Carl, recently celebrated the birth of a beautiful baby boy, Aaron Douglas.

Susan Dill Hanna and husband, Bill, are now back in the D.C. area, where Susan spends a great deal of time preparing her collies for their careers as showdogs.

Lisa Marie Gramp married Lt. Kevin Dean Kirk and they now live in New York at Ramstein A.B. Lisa is a full-time homemaker!

It doesn't seem possible that the Class of '82 is already becoming a Mary Washington memory! Many of the members of our class are on to careers, further education or married life. Last June 4 and 5, we had the opportunity to attend our first Alumni function—Homecoming! Those of us who went had a great time—no one had changed much.

Class of 1982

As for the present status of our classmates and friends, I am happy to report that all seems to be well. Last July, Mike Bennett began his graduate career at Syracuse University majoring in public administration at the Maxwell School. From all accounts, he seems to be adjusting marvelously to the rapid life of the Cosmopolitan New Yorker! His cohort, John Hoffman, is continuing his education as well, at George Washington University, pursuing a master's in American studies, following in the footsteps of his mentor, Dr. Glenn Thomas. Terri Torri is busily working on a career in economics in the D.C. area, joined by ex-roomie, Kathleen Downes, who with her experience at the GAO, hopes to do the same. Georgiana Hall and Barbara Cahill are living the good life in Georgetown—Georgiana studying physics at Georgetown and Barbara, postponing law school for a year, is taking a class there as well, with work in between. They are probably getting together with Erin Devine occasionally, in between Erin's law classes at American University. Aside from that busy schedule, Erin has been pumping lots of little-known facts about the Class of '82 for me! Law of another sort has attracted Theresa DeAtley who is at the National Center for Paralegal Training in Georgia.

Some of our class have chosen to remain in Fredericksburg. Barbara Dixon spent much of her summer in Fredericksburg working in the cartography lab (where else?). Her good buddy Jenifer Blair (JB) is also in Fredericksburg working as an admissions counselor for MWC, joined by Jim Pierpoint, who also spent most of his summer there. Two of our class's more talented artists—Kathy Pike and Mandy Murphy have returned to Mary Washington to obtain their teaching certification. Should either pursue a career in education, students would be most fortunate.

The other half of the Pierpoint brothers, Tim, surprised everyone by settling in Richmond as an insurance claims adjuster. Jenny Stone, a native Richmonder, is also there, working in a bank.

The Class of '82 has at least one entrepreneur. Abi Purlee has decided to open a school of dance in the Northern Virginia area. Abi decided on this option in lieu of an immediate graduate school career. Speaking of graduate school, that is where Betsy Rohaly is right now, working on a master's in geography at the University of Florida, with a possible minor in journalism. Whew!

At least two of our classmates have military careers in their immediate future. Shannon McGurk, after a tough summer in boot camp, graduated to Army service, and Betsy Riester is now attending Officer Candidate School.

One of our classmates has become quite a world traveler. Libba Kepley is now in Israel, working on preparations for an interfaith holiday celebration. On the home front, Annmarie Cozzi managed to secure a terrific position close to her home in Westfield New Jersey, working in an outpatient clinic—a great opportunity for a psychology major.

Lisa Blais married her long time boyfriend, Pat Thurman last July and bops around with him in his jet-setting Naval career. Trenda Powell has joined her fiance in New Orleans, counting the days to her April 1 wedding.

I have migrated to D.C., looking for that once in a lifetime job! In between that chore, I stand on busy streets, tin cup in hand asking for donations. The company is good, though. Paula Garten has also come up to this area for the same express purpose. We see a lot of Jackie Tanous and Rosann Sedlacko, that dynamic duo, who for the time are settling in the D.C. area as well.

That's about all the news for now, and I hope both Betsy and I will have even more for the spring edition.

PLEASE, (the Alumni Office is spending a fortune on letters returned to them by the P.O. with corrected addresses). Notify them ASAP when you know your new address.

From the Alumni Office: Ruth Myrtle Dawson married Robert Young Jones, and they now live in Zacata, Va.

Barney Reiley married Kimberly Stephenson '83 in July.

Lisa Graziose-Corrin is married to a British citizen, and they may be going back to England this fall. At that time Lisa will abandon her position as an advertising trainee with J. Walter Thompson in New York.

Terri Lynn Lewis married Danny Douglas Grady. They are now in Isle of Palms, S.C.

Carla Braun was to marry Ensign Jett D. Bell in June.

Laura Lee McPherson was to marry David Louis Dickinson in June and assume a position as a mathematician at NSWC, Dahlgren, Va.

Marine 2nd Lt. Bernard M. Saunders was graduated from the Navy's Aviation Indoctrination Course. AIC is the first step in the Naval flight training program leading to designation as a Naval aviator.

Help!

We would like to know . . .

Did the State Normal and Industrial School for Women at Fredericksburg sponsor intercollegiate athletic teams?

What sports did the women of the State Normal School for Women participate in?

What were their uniforms like?

Did they practice often?

Were varsity sports a part of life at the State Teacher's College?

Who coached the teams?

Who did they play in their games? In what sports did they compete?

When Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia had a physical education major, was MWC a powerhouse of a team?

The "Blue Tide" was selected as MWC's athletic teams' nickname in 1978. Was there another nickname before the "Blue Tide"?

Who was the most ferocious athletic rival of Mary Washington College in 1932?

When MWC had a marching band, did it march and play at sports events?

Before Goolrick Gym was built in 1969, where did the Athletic teams play and practice? Were there ever meets in the pool that is now the floor of the Pub in Ann Carter Lee Hall? Did the basketball gym in Monroe Hall ever see a full house for a game between Mary Washington and Mary Baldwin College?

Did many spectators come to games at the State Normal and Industrial School for Women at Fredericksburg? Were there any games to come to?

We would like to know the answers to those questions and dozens more that spring to mind!

The Mary Washington College athletic history of the past few years is well documented, but prior to very recently, little was recorded and, thus, little is known about our athletic prowess of the past.

The advent of the College's 75th Anniversary has ignited a flame of interest among the Blue Tide athletes of today concerning their heritage. Those in the athletic department are interested in learning about the athletes who laid the groundwork for MWC's very successful program of today.

If you can satisfy today's interest with information about any aspect of MWC's athletic past, please write, call or send your team's schedules, rosters, results or even pictures to Terry Bonner, Sports Information Director, Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Virginia 22401 (703-899-4378). Please identify your material so that it may be returned to you.

Remember, our best source is what you can share with us.

Van-tastic!

Thanks to the fund raising efforts of the Mary Washington College Parents Council and the generosity of Mary Washington College parents, this 14-passenger van was purchased to transport students to cultural events in both Washington, D.C., and Richmond, Virginia. The Parents Council, an organization which supports special projects for their children enrolled at MWC, raised more than $12,000 from more than 400 Mary Washington College parents. Now, many students lacking personal transportation may complement their college studies with the benefits of cultural enrichment.
